Neglect Charged In Conservation Officers' Work

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's conservation commission is expected to ask Monday for a full-scale investigation by the attorney general's office into alleged irregular conduct by Upper Peninsula conservation officers.

Commission Chairman Harold W. Glassen said he was prepared to request such a probe on his own if the commission does not do so at its Sunday-Monday meetings here.

Story Tracked Down

Director Gerald E. Eddy of the department said he was "firmly convinced we should find out what the story is and take whatever action is necessary." He added: "If there have been any irregularities we want to find out about them, and if there have been none we want to clear the names of the officers being accused."

Eddy took the position that it would require a request of the full conservation commission to bring the attorney general's office into an investigation.

Irregularities have been charged to Upper Peninsula conservation officers, particularly those operating in the eastern end, by Kenneth W. McCormick, a staff writer for the Detroit Free Press.

Blocked At Newberry

McCormick claimed some officers were spending their time trapping and cutting timber instead of running down violators. He quoted an unnamed Upper Peninsula official as saying that as many as 1,000 deer were shot illegally each year in his county alone.

The Free Press writer quoted Stanley G. Fontanna, as saying that several department investigations had been stymied while he was deputy conservation commissioner from 1934 to 1951.

Fontanna was quoted by McCormick as saying that Joseph P. Rahlby of Newberry, a conservation commission member for 20 years, blocked the probes when he "came to the front" for Francis (Pat) Furlong, when the latter's lumbering activities while a commission employee were questioned.

Unfair Advantage

Furlong retired as district supervisor of the department's field administration division for the last time in 1946.

Wiley is serving as a U. S. delegate to the U. N. Assembly, but he emphasized that he spoke only as a senator. The American delegation to the U. N. was taken back by Wiley's blast and had no comment.

Precautions Inadequate

The Wisconsin Republican attacked current arrangements on security between the State Department and the U. N. as "hopelessly inadequate."

He said U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie had a "clearer conception" of the problem than some State Department officials. He blamed Washington officials for giving Lie inadequate information on which to act against American employees with allegedly subversive records.

U. S. Assistant Secretary of State John Hickerson told the McCarran Senate internal security subcommittee Wednesday that the State Department had supplied Lie with adverse information on about 40 American U. N. employees, but that 14 of them still were employed by the U. N. Lie was reported to feel that he had failed to act when presented with definite evidence against American employees by the U. S. government.

Grandma Saves Baby In Pittsburgh Fire

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Eighteen-month-old Darlene Daugherty was trapped in a burning third-floor apartment with her grandmother.

But Grannie—63-year-old Mrs. Mary McEvoy—wasn't sitting around waiting to be rescued. She tossed little Darlene across an alleyway into the arms of Mrs. John A. Paul standing on a porch five feet below the roof of her three-story home.

Shortly afterward firemen climbed into the apartment to rescue Mrs. McEvoy and Mrs. Clara Ferguson, a second-floor tenant who had fled upstairs as the flames gushed upward.

Senators Want Look At MacArthur's Plan For Peace In Korea

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo.) proposed today an immediate extraordinary session of the Senate Armed Services Committee to look into Gen. Douglas MacArthur's views on ending the Korean War.

President Truman, with some barbed remarks about both MacArthur and President-elect Eisenhower, rejected yesterday a senator's suggestion that he call the two men to the White House to discuss Korea.

Truman "Arrogant"

Truman said, among other things, he doubts MacArthur has hit upon any new way to peace, and that he still thinks Eisenhower's campaign announcement that he would go to the Korean War zone was demagoguery.

Truman's words drew some GOP cries of "arrogant" and "slandering" on Capitol Hill. Hunt, taking no part in that row, told a reporter:

"I would like to see Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) call either or both generals to Capitol Hill to brief the armed services committee."

Russell is the committee chairman who presided over the 1951 Senate investigation of the President's firing of MacArthur as Allied commander in Korea and the Far East he is out of the city. Hunt said he thought Congress should be "informed and consulted" at once if there is any new plan to end the war.

Action Can't Wait

"This is not a matter that I believe should wait until the new Congress convenes on Jan. 3," Hunt said. "And I am convinced most members of the committee would be able and more than willing to return to Washington on such an important mission."

The idea drew support from another committee member, Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.), who said in a separate interview: "I would endorse the plan if Sen. Russell sees fit to call a meeting of the committee."

Stennis also declined to comment specifically on Truman's tart

Recount Trend Cuts Williams Lead To 9,037

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Associated Press Writer

Fred M. Alger Jr., Republican aspirant for the governorship, got a big boost of 186 votes today when votes in two Ypsilanti precincts were thrown out of the recount.

At the same time, the state board of canvassers ordered counties that had suspended recounting to get under way again.

Didn't Take Oath

The state board ordered 476 Williams votes and 290 Alger votes disqualified in two Ypsilanti township precincts when it was found the election inspectors had not taken the required oath of office.

Williams had gained 19 votes in the other eight Washtenaw precincts so far recounted, so his net loss in the county stood at 167.

The new shift cut Gov. Williams' lead to 9,037 in 766 precincts. His net gain in the whole recount was reduced to 419.

State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, acting chairman of the state board, notified counties who had suspended the recount they had no authority to do so.

Chippewa Holds Back

Telegrams were sent to clerk George Dunn of Genesee county, who had ordered the recount stopped after expected completion of Alger precincts today, and officials of Iron, Chippewa and Oscana counties. The Iron recount, scheduled to start Wednesday, had already begun. In Chippewa, also slated for a Wednesday start, nothing had happened so far.

Oscana officials had announced they would not start the recount

Peaks In Korea Taken By Reds

By SAM SUMMERLIN

SEOUL (AP)—About 750 Chinese Reds smashed back to the peaks of Big and Little Nori Hills on the flaming western front today, only two hours after rugged South Koreans captured the strategic heights in a bloody, hand-to-hand battle.

Fiercely fighting Chinese swept up the slopes of the two hills in a two-pronged drive shielded by cover of darkness and a devastating Communist artillery and mortar barrage.

The valiant First Republic of Korea ROK division had seized Big and Little Nori in the sixth of a series of bloody counterattacks in savage, day-long fighting.

Exhausted South Koreans, first backed down the smoke-shrouded slopes of Big and Little Nori yesterday after the Chinese threw nearly 3,000 men into the searing battle for the Stepping-Stone Hills on the northern invasion route to Seoul.

Bonds For Israel

LANSING (AP)—Governor Williams today proclaimed Sunday, Dec. 14, as Israel Bond Day in Michigan and urged citizens of all faiths to subscribe to the independence bond issue to help support the young state of Israel.

Detroit Kills Invalid Wife, 62; Suicide Stopped

DETROIT (AP)—Police today sought a murder warrant against 62-year old William R. Jones who yesterday electrocuted his invalid wife, Barbara, and attempted to take his own life unsuccessfully in a mercy killing pact.

Mrs. Jones, also 62, suffering from a diabetic ailment, was legless after two amputation operations.

Authorities quoted Jones as saying both he and his wife were sick and despondent. Jones told police they decided on suicide by electrocution.

Under questioning, Jones said he filled the bathtub with water and gently placed his wife in the tub. He split the ends of an electric cord, hooking one wire to a faucet and tying the other wire around his wife's wrist. Then he turned on the current.

Jones said he tried to electrocute himself at the same time by placing his bare feet in the charged water, but failed. A relative entered the house by chance and stopped Jones from attempting to hang himself.

Police quoted the despondent husband as saying:

"We agreed to do it six weeks ago when she left the hospital. Without legs there was nothing left for her—without her there was nothing left for me."

Upper Peninsula Industry Studied

LANSING (AP)—A special advisory committee to the State Economic Development Commission will meet in Marquette Monday to draft recommendations for the Upper Peninsula's "economic climate" program.

The study is aimed at preparing a program to improve the climate in which industry operates in Michigan.

George Craig, director of the Calumet & Hecla Mining Co., is chairman of the advisory committee.

Members include Wesley Jenner, vice president of the Cliffs Dow Chemical Co., Marquette; A. J. Cayia, president of the Inland Lime and Stone Co., Manistique; James T. Jones, general manager of the Marble Arns and Mfg. Co., Gladstone; James Bush, consultant of the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., Negaunee; and Clarence DuBois, president of the Commercial Bank, L'Anse

Dulles Says U. S. Needs Spiritual Revival To Make Freedom Work

By EDWARD O. ETHELL

DENVER (AP)—Laying a base for future foreign policy, two leading spokesmen for President-elect Eisenhower claim a crusade to make freedom work at home is essential to break the spell of communism abroad.

John Foster Dulles said last night something has "gone wrong" with American life. The incoming secretary of state called for a spiritual revival. He warned that "when ennobling purpose goes out of freedom, it is easily displaced by false faiths, such as communism."

Up To Individuals

Dulles' speech, his first since being named by Eisenhower, was recorded and played to both the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U. S. A. and to a nation-wide radio audience. It closely paralleled one to the church meeting here 24 hours earlier by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. (R-Mass.), designated ambassador to the United Nations.

Both called for a strengthening of the U. N. and said the international organization deters Soviet aggression. Both said discrimination in America must end because it threatens U. S. attempts to lead a free world to durable peace. And both said private individuals and groups must lend more help to other peoples and stop counting on government efforts.

Weed Out Spies Or Lose U. S. Support, Is Warning To U. N.

By STANLEY JOHNSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) threatened the United Nations last night with a loss of its biggest chunk of financial support—that from the United States—unless something is done to keep subversives and spies out of the U. N. Secretariat.

But in making his threat, Wiley—who is slated to head the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee in the new Congress—made it clear he thinks a major part of the blame for alleged subversives still on the U. N. payrolls lies with the American State Department.

Contribute 560 Million

Wiley said in a statement that congressional sentiment is building up to cut off U. S. money for the international organization "unless

Quarry Drained To Find Children

NAPERVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Heavy portable pumps today have lowered the water level 12 feet in an around-the-clock effort to drain a Naperville quarry that may hold the bodies of two missing children. Thousands of dollars' worth of labor and equipment has been donated by the Navy, Coast Guard, construction companies and townspeople in an effort to learn the fate of Jean Peterson, 6, and Edward Rosenstiel, 3, who disappeared Sunday.

The search for the youngsters has centered there since Monday, when bloodhounds repeatedly followed a scent from the neighborhood where they last were seen at play to the quarry, half a block away.

Pumping operations were begun Wednesday on the chance that overhanging ledges, now submerged, might be concealing the bodies of the children. The 300 foot square quarry, 90 feet deep in spots, held an estimated 81 million gallons of water.

The pumping plan was adopted after a volunteer diver, John Magill of Chicago, reported the water too dark and deep for an effective diving search. The water is piped to the Du Page River 50 feet away.

Alger Retains Lead In County

The governorship recount in Delta county continued this morning to favor challenger Fred M. Alger Jr. while Gov. G. Men-nen Williams was making slow but steady gains in the rest of the state.

In the nine Escanaba precincts and four of Gladstone, Alger picked up 22 votes in the third day of tallying here.

After disqualification yesterday and Wednesday of a total of 93 votes in two Escanaba precincts because of improper tearing of ballots, the recount settled down to a rapid counting with no significant differences uncovered between the original canvass and the new tabulation figures.

Republican Alger also showed a lead of 22 votes over Williams yesterday after recount of the first six precincts of Escanaba.

The fourth Gladstone precinct was finished this morning, showing the total gain of Alger to be 18 votes. The recount team moved into the townships this morning, with Escanaba township being the first completed. The ballots of Wells, Nahma, and Masonville, precinct No. 1 were being counted this afternoon.

Deputy Attorney General Harlan Yelland anticipated this morning that the tabulation might be completed here Monday. Several counties of the state have already finished the recount and sent their reports to the State Board of canvassers.

Following are the recount figures for Escanaba and Gladstone and the lost votes reported for each of the candidates.

Hospital Loses 15 Christmas Trees To Meanest Thief

Christmas will not be as bright for patients at St. Francis Hospital as Sister M. Cecilia had planned—unless the persons who stole 15 Christmas trees return them.

"They took 15 of the nicest trees," the Mother Superior lamented. "Our men obtained a permit and went out to the woods to cut them for the benefit of our patients. It was quite a bit of work."

The trees were to be placed in the corridors, in the chapel, and smaller ones in some of the patients' rooms.

Escanaba police received a report that the trees were stolen sometime Wednesday night from the north side of the hospital building where they had been placed. The Mother Superior said she believes they were taken by adults, not children, for two of the trees were large.

If the trees are returned or the hospital is advised where to pick them up there will be no questions asked, said the Mother Superior.

Briefly Told

Christmas Mailing — The Escanaba post office will be open to 5 p. m. Saturday for the convenience of the public during the Christmas mailing rush, it was announced today by Postmaster Regina Cleary.

Error Corrected — The third member of the team of recount tallies for the Republican county committee is Harry Nelson, not Harry Olson as was reported by the committee in Wednesday's edition of the Daily Press.

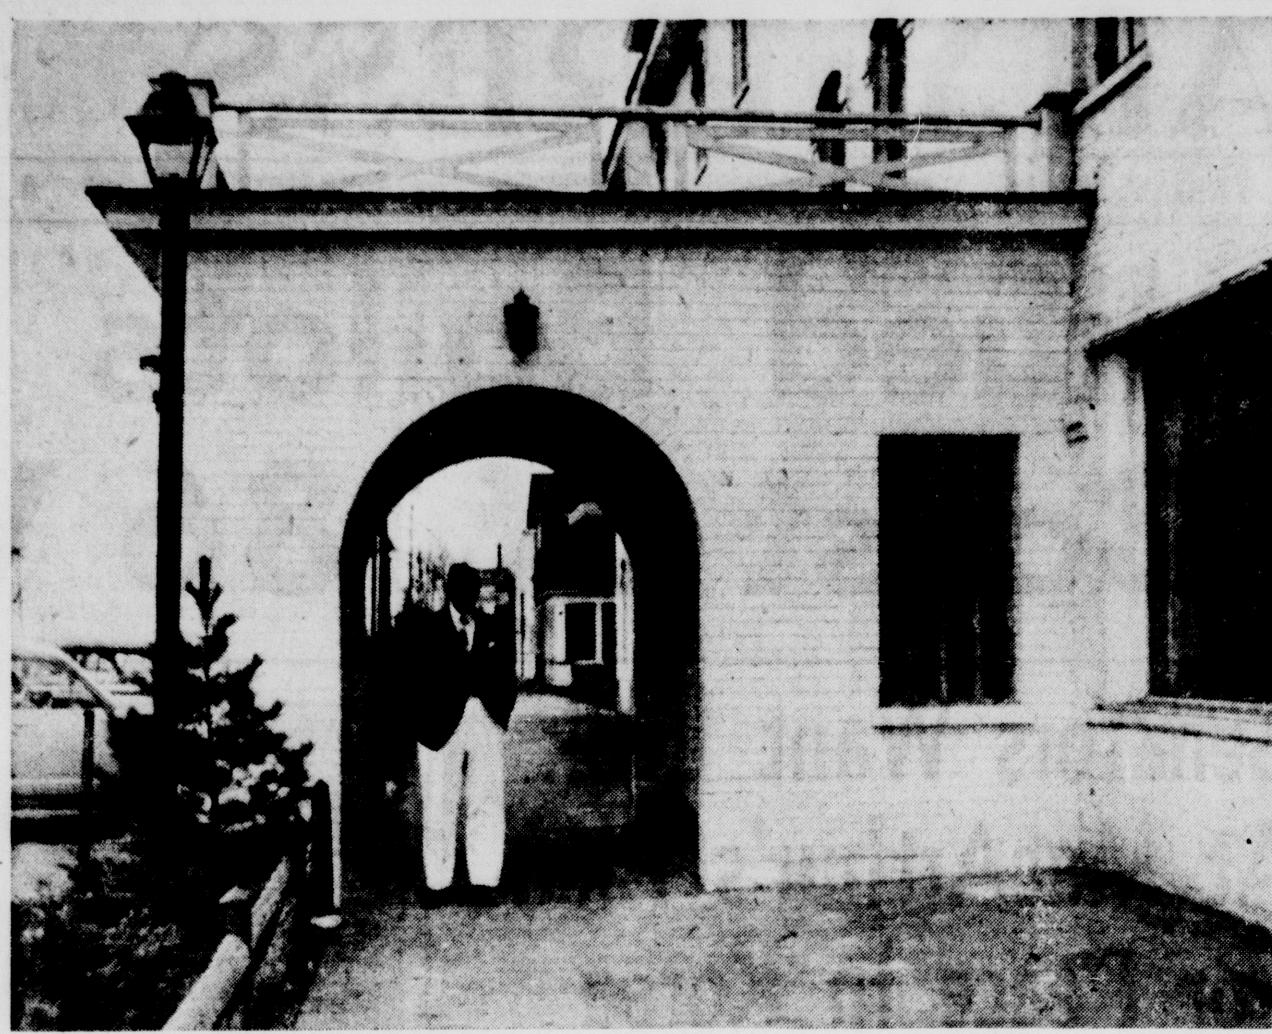

Stamp Collectors — The Escanaba Philatelic Society will hold its mid-month meeting at 7:30 Saturday evening in the city hall. The meeting will be primarily a trading session. All stamp collectors of Escanaba and vicinity are invited to attend.

Motorists Ticked — Traffic tickets have been issued by Escanaba police to the following motorists: Dwight K. Meyer, 1427 North 18th St., speeding; Mike Durkas Jr., 322 North 20th St., no operator's license; and Gertrude Kennedy, 525 South 11th St., failure to yield the right of way.

Hayes Defends Entrance As Improvement To City

Harold C. Hayes, proprietor of the House of Ludington, in a letter to the Escanaba Press has defended the construction of a new entrance to his hotel on city-owned property as an improvement of community interest.

The letter follows:
Editor "Escanaba Daily Press"
"Escanaba, Michigan
"Dear Sir:
"I wish to take this opportunity, as a resident of Escanaba, to use this means of 'free expression' to discuss a subject that has been greatly exaggerated and built-up into what appears to be a 'big case.' Because of the broadcasts of the City Council meetings and the reporting, by this newspaper, both editorially and in the daily news columns, my fight over a relatively minor issue, has reached huge proportions.

"The issue in question is: whether I am to be permitted to keep the modern front, that was recently built on my business establishment, the House of Ludington, or, if I am to tear it down and go backwards, to restore it to its old form. I have put a lot of hard labor into my business since I have been here in Escanaba, no one can deny this! While I admit that there is a selfish motive in my improving my property, there is an even greater civic and community interest as well, in having a hotel that this city can be proud. Conventions and important visitors to our city are impressed by our hotels and public eating places—certainly no one can say that the House of Ludington isn't responsible for a good percentage of this out-of-town business. Our hotel's facilities are used daily by civic, fraternal, business, and religious organizations. Visiting 'bass' from our cities' fine industries are brought to one of our luxurious suites or rooms to remind them that Escanaba has all the comforts of the big city. Our service of food and 'special' events has enjoyed an international reputation. I am humble and proud of our achievements and happy in the thought that I have been able to build up a nice hotel through the efforts of most of the people here in Escanaba that want one. My sons and myself do most of the physical labor around the hotel, we all work hard and take pride in what we do and have.

"It is regrettable that this incident, about our new front, has come before the City Council, but I am certain that, if it is brought before the people, as I am requesting, through a public hearing, the majority of the good people of Escanaba will agree, that the new front is nothing more than we had before, except that it is more modern and an improvement to the hotel and the city.

"Why hasn't the Escanaba Daily Press used pictures to accurately show the readers what has been done? It appears from all accounts, in the paper, that we have blocked off the sidewalk and are encroaching on city property. But let's see what we had before that was considered legal. A photograph will clearly show that we had LESS space for pedestrian traffic on the sidewalk, with the old front, than we now have with the new. The footage that we now have is a normal sidewalk width and we always had the porch over the walk, even with the old front. True, I did not get a permit to repair the old front, but I sincerely thought that I didn't need one, as I was only repairing what already was there. When I was informed that I needed a permit, I immediately applied for one and received permission to finish the work up to the sidewalk. The brick work on the front, that is now in question, had already begun and cold weather was approaching. Now, I run a public institution, winter was coming and the unfinished front looked terrible! I had to complete it or have an unfinished, unsightly front, all winter long, so I went ahead and completed the work. I was confident that a permit would be granted and I assured the Council that I wasn't defying them by going ahead, but that I would remove the front if I was wrong.

"My attorney, in legal language, asked the city to 'vacate' this property to me as was done in the case of another local business establishment, several years ago. I can assure the council and the city attorney that the vacating agreement can be so worded that the property can be returned to the city without any trouble. I will agree to sell the property back to the city, for any of the reasons the council mentioned, for the token consideration of one dollar, with all costs waived. This will cause the city no trouble and will not set any dangerous precedent. While we are all waiting for the proposed State Building to be built, we can all enjoy the new front on Ludington Street.

"It is not my intention to cause any trouble to any of the other so-called 'violators' of city ordinances, and I understand that there are over 200 such cases, ranging from the people who have put in apartments in their homes without a permit, to the City of Escanaba, itself, who has an ash chute behind the steam plant that extends over a public sidewalk. BUT if I am to be singled out as an example, let those who have the authority remember a very famous quotation: 'You can't make fish of one, and fowl of another.'
Sincerely yours,
House of Ludington
Harold C. Hayes

Debate Judges Are Selected

Eight faculty members from Northern Michigan College of Education will serve as judges in the second U. P. practice tournament here Saturday.

Seventeen peninsula schools will send teams here to participate in the debates on whether Atlantic Pact nations should form a federal union.

The tournament here, which will include 34 varsity debates and 11 reserve debates, will be held in Escanaba Junior High School from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. John Romstad, Esq. debate coach, is general chairman.

The judges will be G. C. Meyland, E. M. Bjork, Aurele Durocher, A. Burrows, Martha Beman, Darius Shnell, Forrest Roberts and Earl Hilton of NMCE.

Finals will be held next month in Marquette.

Schools which are sending squads here Saturday are Sault Ste. Marie, Menominee, Bessemer, Ironwood, Newberry, Manistique, Ishpeming, Crystal Falls, Gladstone, Felch, Iron Mountain, Norway, Kingsford, Baraga, Watersmeet and Munising.

Conducting the Court will be Glen Leonard, Boy Scout commissioner, Andrew Houston, district Scout executive; Attorney William E. Anderson, institutional representative; and Don Thysberg of Marquette, Hiawatha Council executive.

The ceremonies will include 9 First Class Scout advancements, 7 Second Class Scouts and 15 Tenderfoot.

Adult Education Leaders Meet Here

A citizenship class for immigrants at Marquette, a community health course given in cooperation with the Menominee Medical Society, and language classes for armed services personnel at Sault Ste. Marie were among topics discussed by Upper Michigan Adult Educators at their opening conference session here Thursday afternoon.

The two-day conference, sponsored by the University of Michigan Extension service and the U. P. Adult Educators association, will close this afternoon. About 25 educators are here for the sessions.

Directors of adult education programs in Upper Michigan gave reports on their programs at the opening meeting in the House of Ludington.

Health Class Interesting
The possibility that many recent immigrants in Upper Michigan would desire adult classes in citizenship was discussed by the adult educator, after a report by Milton Johnson of Marquette, Johnson, director of the Marquette adult education program, related that the class in citizenship has enrolled many displaced persons, and that it is enthusiastically received.

"As a Christmas project, the Marquette citizenship class is making recordings of the folk songs of these immigrants from various countries," Johnson reported.

Forty to 50 persons attended the community health course offered in Menominee with the cooperation of the medical society there. Carl Johnson, Menominee adult education director reported. Educators from several communities expressed interest in the project.

Advisory Board
The school and the military units at Sault Ste. Marie cooperate in offering adult education classes, David Ripley reported. He said armed forces personnel have been particularly interested in language courses, and noted that the schools there will provide facilities for a course in navigation to be offered by the Coast Guard.

Upper Michigan educators learned from Henry J. Ponitz, chief of the adult education division of the state department of public instruction, that driver training classes are the "number one" course in Michigan cities. Numerous U. P. adult education directors concurred, and stated that driver training was in great demand.

Jacob Solin, director of Gogebic Junior College in Ironwood, reported that the college is utilizing a permanent advisory board for adult education classes, as well as the college program.

Industrial First Aid
Gas and arc welding are the most popular classes in Powerspalding, William Sharon reported. He also described for U. P. educators the adult program for handicapped persons at Pinecrest Sanatorium.

Ceramics is one of the more popular Escanaba adult education courses, Vernon Ihlenfeldt, director, told the conferees. He also reviewed the courses offered here, noting that 19 different classes were offered.

During the initial report stage, Robert Richards of Negaunee queried educators on possibilities for classes in industrial first aid, geology and mining. Prof. Max Allen of NMCE in Marquette also discussed the possibility of these and said industrial mathematics courses seem to be in demand.

Money From State
E. M. Blomquist of Felch reported on-the-job training for veteran farmers is the biggest program there, and said it was making a valuable contribution to scientific farming. Several other adult education directors also reported on farmer training, young farmers clubs, etc.

State policy on reimbursement for adult education and the state aid distribution formula were considered at the meeting last night, for which Milton Johnson of Marquette was chairman. Henry Ponitz, of the State Department of Public Instruction, served as resource person.

Each year $300,000 is earmarked by the state for adult education and this is pro-rated to the various schools offering adult education classes.

Reorganization Meeting
It is not anticipated that the state general fund deficit will interfere with the adult education programs in the state.

The educators this morning discussed promotion of adult education classes, public relations and cooperating agencies, with Carl Johnson, Menominee adult education director in charge. This afternoon, at their closing session, they were to discuss new subjects in the socio-civic area, avocational and cultural courses, classes in home and family living, and education for the aging.

A business session to discuss reorganization of the U. P. Association of Adult Education Administrators also was scheduled this afternoon.

Cotton growing has tended to spread north in the United States and is now grown as far north as Southern Illinois.

Delta Furniture Equipment Sold

Auction sale of machinery and equipment of the bankrupt Delta Furniture Manufacturing Company was held yesterday at the plant, 423 Stephenson Avenue.

The sale was described as "successful" in that everything was disposed of, although the total was below the appraised value of over $20,000.

Included in the property sold was a complete wood working plant consisting of machinery, factory equipment, tools, inventory and office fixtures. Michael Tauber & Company of Chicago conducted the auction.

A considerable amount of the assets was purchased by local people.

The building is owned by the city of Escanaba and is under lease to the Harnischfeger Corporation with option to purchase. Harnischfeger is seeking to occupy the building as soon as possible and will establish a machine tool manufacturing plant.

Under its contract with the city Harnischfeger Corporation will pay $200 a month to the city, of which $100 will be in the form of rental and $100 to apply toward purchase.

FBI Agent Tells Of Auto Theft Problem In State

Auto thefts in the state of Michigan have more than doubled in the past two years, creating a problem of major concern for the Detroit office of the FBI, members of the U. P. Law Enforcement Officers Association were told yesterday by Robert W. Molloy, special agent with the FBI.

A total of 16,151 stolen and unrecovered cars, at an estimated value of $19½ million, were at large throughout the state in 1951, the FBI representative disclosed to the 70 municipal policemen, sheriff's officials, state troopers, constable officers and justices of the peace attending the one-day meeting of the association Thursday afternoon in the Terrace Gardens.

Molloy replaced as speaker on the luncheon program Edward Scheidt, special agent in charge of the Detroit office of the FBI, who was unable to attend because of illness.

Reports On State Conference

In his address, Molloy reviewed for the law enforcement officers an auto theft meeting held recently in Lansing. That meeting, he said, was held to gather and disseminate to state law officers information that would aid in solving the car burglary problem in the state.

"The people we talked to in the meeting generally agreed that many of the stolen cars at large could be recovered if law enforcement officers were periodically reminded of the crisis and of detection methods advised for the apprehension of the illegal driver," he pointed out.

He explained the five points of the detection procedure prepared by the Detroit office of the National Auto Theft Bureau and the state FBI office.

"It has been found that a stolen car can be spotted with some surety if the driver appears to have trouble with operation of the car, or if a new car carries battered license plates or vice versa."

These incognities have many times brought suspicion which resulted in the arrest of a car thief he said.

Recommends Thorough Search

When a car is stopped for examination, the reaction of the driver to the search and his probable uneasiness will often bring from him telling acts of his guilt, he continued.

Molloy's office and the NATB advocates a thorough search of the car when it is stopped, he told the members. This search should include a check of the motor number, the car number, the driver's paper (to see if the numbers coincide), and the contents of the car.

Many of the things uncovered in the search will also help in returning the car to the owner, he said.

Although the problem of car thefts has grown in the state as a whole in the past two years, some cities have been able to achieve a balk in the number of stolen cars.

"Grand Rapids and Lansing have 'key ordinances' which demand that the driver of a car, on parking the vehicle, turn off the ignition and take out the key," he told the officers.

"That law has helped decrease by 100 per cent the number of auto thefts in those cities from 1946 to 1950. After adoption of the statute, Grand Rapids went from 349 stolen cars in 1946 to 167 in 1950 and Lansing from 107 in '46 to 56 in 1950."

Kallerson New Officer

(Escanaba has a similar ordinance on the books but it has been virtually unenforced since its effective date of February, 1926. Last year up to this time 38 cars were stolen in Escanaba, a figure just 18 cars fewer than were stolen in Lansing during the entire year.)

Following Molloy's address, election of officers for the coming year was held in a general assembly.

One Delta county officer, Torval Kallerson, Gladstone chief of police, was elected second vice president. Other officers elected unanimously were president, Russell G. Hild (sheriff of Luce county); first vice president, Lt. Willard Wixom (assistant district commander of the Michigan State Police, Marquette); secretary-treasurer, Arthur C. DeVries (chaplain of the Marquette branch of Michigan State Prison); and executive committee member, John Sullivan (Chief of police in Ironwood).

At the opening of the meeting, Glen Leonard of Escanaba introduced as local guests Mayor Robert E. LeMire, City Councilman Jacob Bink, Justice of the Peace Mrs. Caroline Nystrom, and Mrs. Torval Strom.

Hosts for the conference were, besides Leonard, Sgt. Edward Goldsworthy, commander of the Gladstone State Police post; and George Peoples of Gladstone.

Planners Approve Sale Of City Lots

Sale of a larger portion of city-owned land on North 22nd street, between 5th and 6th avenues, was recommended by the Escanaba Planning commission at a regular meeting late Thursday afternoon.

The property is sought by Dale Vinette for industrial use. Vinette, who previously asked the city to sell an area 200 x 115-feet, now is asking whether the city would sell a 272 x 200-foot irregular area on North 22nd street.

Final action on the sale of the property rests with the city council, but approval by the planning commission is necessary.

Planting Plan Approved

A request from Paul Hebert to change zoning from class B to commercial at 13th avenue north and North 21st street was referred to the commission's zoning committee for study.

The zoning committee also was asked to study present zoning ordinances applying to use of backyard areas for garages. The city does not have a clear definition of "backyard" in its ordinances, and there is some inequity in regulations governing building of attached garages and separate garages, Charles Schmidt, city assessor reported.

A planting plan for the area around the water filtration plant, drawn by Robert Clayton, city forester, was reviewed by commission members and approved. The plan calls for trees, shrubs and evergreens, to beautify the area without obstructing the view of the lake and the beachhouse. The stock for planting will cost about $2,000, Clayton reported.

Will Study Alleys

The commission accepted a committee report on access roads to Ludington park. The proposals call for minor rearrangement of existing roads, and a 4th street entrance in addition to one on each end of the park.

At the close of the meeting, Joseph Ivens, commission member, requested that the zoning committee study alley layouts in the city to determine whether plans can be made to eliminate garbage cans in front of homes.

John Bartella served as chairman of the meeting in the absence of E. H. Niederauer.

Four Aces Are Leading In Pine Forest Tournament

The Four Aces with a score of 133 are leading in the Pine Forest Smear tournament following last night's play at the Pine Forest Club, Ford River.

Standings of the other teams are: P. F. C. and Ford River, 120; Foxes, 120; Press, 118; State Highway, 115; Road Commission, 104; A. and O., 102; and Ford River Hot Shots, 98. Lunch was served after the games by the Four Aces members.

Tournament play will be held Dec. 18 with the Ford River Hot Shots, members of the lunch committee. A recess will be held during the holidays.

Ford Earns 87 Million After Taxes In 1951

NEW YORK (AP)—Earnings of the Ford Motor Co., long a well kept secret, amounted to 87 million dollars after taxes in 1951, the Wall Street Journal reported in a copyrighted story.

The business paper said the profit figure was on sales of $2,952,000,000 and put Ford rather than Chrysler as the second largest auto maker. General Motors is first by a wide margin.

The only public source of information on finances of Ford has been an abbreviated balance sheet filed with the Massachusetts commissioner of corporations and taxation under that state's law. The balance sheet gives no sales and profits figures.

The Wall Street Journal did not give the source of its information on Ford earnings for 1951 and four other years. In Detroit, the Ford Company reported it had "no comment" on the story.

For the prior four years, the Journal gave these figures for Ford profits: 78 million dollars in 1947, 119 millions in 1948, 203 millions in 1949 and 279 millions in 1950—a banner year for the entire industry.

Recount Shows Careless Election Procedures Here Still Do Exist

THE recount of 1950 directed public attention to numerous errors and careless handling of Michigan's election procedures. It was generally believed then that the disclosures would result in a remodeling and improvement of the state's election system.

The recount of 1952, now under way, indicates that such is not the case. The same errors that were found in 1950 are being discovered again in 1952. And some new ones in addition.

In three precincts in the City of Escanaba, the third, sixth and ninth, no less than 169 ballots were invalidated through no fault of the voters. In these cases the ballots were voided because of improper handling by election board members.

Many of the ballots were thrown out because election inspectors failed to properly tear off the identifying ballot numbers before putting the ballots in the sealed boxes.

Under Michigan law a ballot is invalidated if it is possible to determine who voted it. Obviously it is possible to ascertain who voted a ballot in which the identifying ballot number is not removed. These are faults of the election board members, not errors by the voter.

With the paper ballot system, no person can be sure that his ballot will actually be counted, no matter how careful he or she may be in marking the ballot. If the election board fails to remove the identifying number or if careless handling of ballots results in any new identifying marks, such ballots must be voided.

Careful and efficient work on the part of the election board members would improve the situation, of course, and would reduce the number of voided ballots to a minimum. But even then some ballots would be invalidated through carelessness on the part of the voter.

The answer to this problem is in voting machines. It is not possible to void a ballot when voting machines are used because there is no printed ballot to work with.

And there are no tabulation errors with voting machines. When the election is completed, the counting is completed, too. The answers are for all to see in the back of the machine. The election boards simply remove the back, which is locked throughout election day, and transfer the figures to the poll books.

If there is a recount—an unlikely procedure where voting machines are used, the unit consists only of rechecking the figures on the back of the machine.

It is significant that in the current recount, none of the candidates wanted a recheck of voting machine precincts.

It is not every people who can become highly wrought up by controversy who will subside so swiftly back to normal as the people of America after the votes are counted.

The British, Scandinavians, Belgians, Dutch and Swiss may respond that they do, and in large measure the statement is correct although they do not customarily become as warmed over the issue as we do.

It has taken a long time to build in the people of this country an acceptance of the rule of the majority. In 1860 we had not secured it. But with every passing election it grows in potency until it takes on a trait of character that is as important as life itself.

For there probably can never be peace unless every government develops some method to solve disputes that is recognized as final and to destroy which only madmen would conspire.

And so the President reminds the President-elect of certain steps and problems that must be decided in order that the continuity of our government be preserved. And this example travels along through the many aisles of the many bureaus and authorities in recognition of the fact that the transfer of power must be made as smoothly as possible in the public interest, and that those who differ widely upon political policies differ not at all in the aims, according to their lights, of making a still better America, at contriving for a still higher form of justice, and at maintaining the best-proven methods of functioning a great nation of nearly 160 million people so that all may be as happy as possible, as healthy as may be and as valuable to themselves, their families, and the republic as circumstances will permit.

It seems rather silly to waste much time on people who are naturally hard to please.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — General Eisenhower, who worked with and under Franklin Roosevelt all during World War II, is taking a leaf or two from F.D.'s book.

Roosevelt not only got away on a cruiser or yacht three or four times a year, but usually took members of the cabinet with him. It gave him a chance both to rest and consider long-range problems.

Eisenhower also plans frequent rests from NATO in Paris he tried to spend at least part of every afternoon on the golf course. This, and a fairly rigid diet, kept him in good shape.

Meanwhile, the present mid-Pacific cruiser conferences, according to close advisers, have four objectives:

1. A decision on Korea has to be formulated almost right away. Even though Eisenhower isn't President yet, his general views will be honored by the Truman administration. And if there is to be any kind of offensive next spring, the supply lines have to start rolling almost immediately.

2. Get acquainted with the cabinet—most of his cabinet Ike has met only once or twice. They need to get acquainted. Some domestic problems, such as taxes and budget, will be discussed; also Secretary-to-be of the Interior Douglas McKay is in charge of the Pacific Islands. That's one reason he was invited.

3. Plan some speeches and prepare for some TV appearances—this was the main reason C. D. Jackson of Fortune Magazine, head of the campaign speech-writers, and Emmett Hughes, another speech-writer, were sent for. Eisenhower will have to make some TV and radio statements shortly after his arrival back in the U. S.; also has major speeches to think about for the inauguration period.

4. Major foreign policy—it's sometimes easier to formulate long-range policy when you are away from it. And Eisenhower now has a chance to debate with his new Secretary of State the most important part of our entire foreign policy—the fact that the heart of the Korean War, as the heart of most of our troubles, lies in Moscow.

TAFT'S THROAT

After Senator Taft issued his histrionic blast against Gen. Eisenhower's appointment of Martin Durkin as Secretary of Labor, Senator Wayne Morse, Oregon's independent Republican, happened to meet Mark Trice, GOP Secretary of the Senate.

"Would you like me to recommend a good political divorce lawyer?" Wise-cracked Morse, who broke with Eisenhower over the Morningside Heights "marriage" with Taft.

Trice, who has been a strong Taft supporter, shook his head ruefully. "Our boy," he said, "certainly cut his own throat."

ADLAI AND HARRY

Here are some of the things that happened between President Truman and Governor Stevenson during their confidential strategy meeting last week.

Actually one of the most important things occurred not at the White House but between a group of Southern senators who are working backstage to take the Democratic party away from Stevenson and run it from the Senate.

To this end, they have been telephoning various Democratic leaders around the country friendly to Sen. Richard Russell to urge him as national leader. However, they don't want to start a full-fledged campaign until after Sen. Lyndon Johnson is made Senate leader, because they fear Northern Democrats would balk at a Texan for Senate leader, if they knew Russell, a Georgian, was being groomed as national leader.

Stevenson had heard of the Southern strategy before he went to the White House, and talked it over with Truman. Here are some of the things they decided:

1. Stevenson, not Truman is to be the party's leader as far as the National Committee is concerned. This was tacit recognition of the fact that Truman has a lot of ill-will in the South.

2. Stevenson told Truman he would come back to Washington after Congress reconvenes and visit with Democrats on Capitol Hill. He wants to get on personal terms with senators and congressmen. What they do in the next four years will be all-important to the Democratic party, Stevenson believes, and he wants to have a hand in it.

3. Stevenson is anxious to find a national chairman who can bridge any gap between Northern and Southern Democratic senators, and believes Sen. Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming is the most likely choice. Sen. Bill Fulbright of Arkansas has already sounded out O'Mahoney about taking the job, and he seems interested.

Billions For Europe:

International Meeting Called To Discuss The Need And Cost

By WADE JONES

PARIS —(NEA) — How long must United States aid to Europe go on? And what's it going to cost? Is the present yearly hand-out of some $5 billion going to become an annual affair, like Spring?

And where does it all lead to? Are we winning the European cold war in this fashion? Or must something new be added? What does the Kremlin think of it all?

These pay-off questions are particularly timely in the light of two meetings scheduled here the middle of December. One is the first full-dress gathering of the Council of Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Representing the U. S. will be Secretary of State Acheson, Defense Secretary Lovett, and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder.

The other meeting is that of the Organization for European Economic Cooperation. Between them, the two groups will thoroughly comb the present military-economic setup of Europe. And the answers they come up with should throw some light on what many people here believe are Europe's most difficult days since early in World War II.

In advance of the meetings, it is possible, however, to give some facts and the opinions of some experts which help explain some of the basic and all-important factors which underlie the present situation in Europe—plus some of the recommendations to improve it.

Here are some of the facts:

1. In the second quarter of 1952, for the first time since the end of World War II, Western Europe's industry failed to produce as much as it had in the same period the previous year.

2. Economic expansion in Europe is slowing down after several years of postwar recovery.

3. Western Europe is critically short of dollars and may get shorter. It buys more from America than it sells—about $2 billion more this year, and maybe double that next year. And without dollars in present-day international trade, you're sunk. Ask a Paris bank to give you dollars for francs and they'd laugh you out of the place.

4. There's been a recent rise in unemployment, particularly in England and Italy.

5. In France, still the keystone of military-economic unity in Western Europe, there are signs of a possible recession.

6. Despite the multitude of councils, agencies, committees, and commissions trying to unify Europe, major sources of friction exist and some are increasing.

Among them are tariff walls, quotas on imports, and similar trade restrictions.

But certainly the most conspicuous friction within the Western Europe community is the growing one between Germany, leading all other countries in industrial development since 1948, and France, not producing up to her potential, and highly apprehensive of her ancient enemy's growing power.

Germany, freed of many of the restrictions imposed after World War II to curb her war potential, is zooming. France is bogged by the debts of past wars and the present costly war in Indo-China, plus her own apparent inability to produce all she could. In reply to any mention of aid received from the United States, the French are quick to point out that they have spent on the Indo-China war twice as much as they have received from the United States.

Were it not for the cost of this war which the French say is as significant as the one in Korea, France could now be operating in the black instead of the red.

Nevertheless, the fact remains that France is having a tough time. It costs the workingman at least 40 to 60 cents of every dollar he makes, just to feed his family.

Wages are lagging behind rising prices and this is cutting heavily into people's ability to buy things. As a result many storekeepers are stuck with goods.

Some smaller factories have folded, as a result, and larger ones are feeling the pinch.

Britain, too, is having troubles. For one thing, the number of unemployed, carrying unemployment insurance, had reached 518,000 a few months ago, or more than double the number at the same time in 1951.

Also her exports were down, the cost of living continued to rise, and she had exhausted her quota in the European Payments Union.

In Italy, production has been bogged at the same level for more than a year, largely due to a falling off in exports and a drop in sales at home.

Italy, too, was hurting for dollars. Over the last year she bought from the United States increasing more than she sold. Unemployment jumped 12 per cent in a year.

These weaknesses in the Western European structure surely are not making the Soviet unhappy.

In fact, United States officials here say the latest Russian tack is to take things easy for the time, reduce their pressures on Europe, in the hope the West will come apart at the seams.

BEGINNING SALARY—To keep the record straight it should be reported that a recent column giving the beginning salary for teachers in Escanaba as $3,100 a year is in error. That figure represented the lowest salary now being paid any of the men teachers.

Under the present salary schedule the Escanaba school district pays its beginning teachers, both men and women, $2,800 a year.

Teachers with Bachelor degrees will attain their maximum pay after a period of service as follows: Women at 11 years will receive $3,800; men at 14 years will receive $4,100.

Teachers with Masters degrees will attain the top pay, both men and women, after a period of service as follows: Women at 11 years will reach the maximum of $3,900 a year; men at 15 years a maximum of $4,300 a year.

(Note: The teacher salary range advocated by the National Education Association ranges from $3,200 for beginners to $8,000 maximum.)

SOLUTION OFFERED — Considerable thought has been and is being given the financial plight of the schools. Some solution inevitably must be forthcoming.

In the mail today is a letter offering a rather unique suggestion for additional school revenue:

"Like everyone who loves children and is interested in schools, I've been thinking of our school financial problems.

"I think perhaps I have a solution—in the language of the day you may think it is a cockeyed solution—but I hope you don't."

"I thought it might be solved by adding 50 cents to the cost of every marriage license, with this revenue to go to the schools. Most men would have to pay it only once in a lifetime."

The letter is signed but the writer requests it be withheld.

(Note: It would require a larger fee than 50 cents per marriage license to raise any substantial amount for the schools. Delta county in 1950 issued a total of 309 marriage licenses which, at 50 cents each would produce only $154.50 in revenue for the schools.)

MORE BOOK TITLES—Roy W. Carlson of Auburn, Indiana, author, historian and former local resident, writes to add to the list of titles of Upper Peninsula books.

In 1923 was published Webb Waldron's "We Explore the Great Lakes", covering a personal experience trip by the author from Ashland, Wis., along Lake Superior south shore around into Lake Michigan to Washington Island and down the lake.

Carlson calls Waldron's treatment "sarcastic" and suggests: "Read about Escanaba and Cloverland!"

Other books touching upon the Upper Peninsula listed by Carlson include Edward Channing's "The Story of the Great Lakes", Norman Beasley's "Freighters of Fortune", James C. Mills' "Our Inland Seas", and James Oliver Curwood's "The Great Lakes."

One of the best illustrated books about the Great Lakes is George A. Cuthbertson's "Fresh Water" published in 1931. It has many lithographs in color and black and white.

TV TRANSMISSION—Under the heading of progressive culture we would like to report the following, received from Lee Stinson, secretary to Haydn R. Evans, general manager of radio station WBAY, Green Bay, in answer to an inquiry:

"We expect to start our TV station along about March 1, using our present 300-foot FM tower—a taller one will be erected next summer. At the start, we will use an RCA 2-kilowatt transmitter.

"Next fall, however, we will use our maximum power of 100 kilowatts with a 700 foot tower and new equipment."

"We should be on with our test pattern in late February. During our first six months of interim operation, we will give good service, according to RCA engineers, to a radius of approximately 45 miles. Next fall, with full power and a high tower, we should service a 90-mile radius and three-quarters of a million people."

(Note: Escanaba is approximately 85 air miles from Green Bay.)

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

Beaumont, Tex.—"There is a great deal of argument in my office as to the correctness of it and has in the following sentence. Your opinion would be appreciated. The sentence is, 'There is attached copies of correspondence which has reference to our loan.'"

ANSWER—As the subject of the principal sentence is "copies," the correct verb is "are attached." It is not "copies," however, which have reference to the loan, but the actual correspondence. Therefore, the correct antecedent of the pronoun "which" is "correspondence," and the verb to use is "has." Accordingly, your sentence should read: "There are attached copies of correspondence which has reference to our loan."

E. G., Buffalo, N. Y.—Masochistic (MAZ-uh-KISS-tik) is an adjective derived from masochism (MAZ-uh-kizm), a term used in psychology to indicate a condition of sexual perversion in which a person derives pleasure from physical pain or suffering. The term is named after an Australian novelist, Leopold von Sacher-Masoch, who first described it.

Mrs. S. E. D., Memphis, Tenn.—The expression, "a diff of bitterness" is a Spoonerism. The name comes from the English educator, Dr. William A. Spooner, who unconsciously transposed the initial sounds or other parts of two or more words. In addressing an audience, he once put the question, "How may of you have a half-warmed fish in your hearts?" when he intended to say, "a half-formed wish."

Again, as a witness to an assault, he testified in court that he had seen the defendant deliver "a blushing crow," when he meant, of course, "a crushing blow."

Ruark Leaves For Vacation

By ROBERT C. RUARK
S. S. VULCANIA (at sea)—Oh, the good ship Vulcania is a fine, fast Italian vessel with very few people on it at this time of year. Which makes it all the nicer for a guy who has just decided to run away. I am on the lam, just like a lot of other people you know. The Atlantic is acting up, and a good part of the passenger list is looking a little green and pinched around the mouth. But I am one of the insufferable sort who never gets seasick and loves lousy weather.

Blow, wind! Fall, rain! Turn, stomachs! There is a spray in my eyes again. And Papa is a happy man. There comes a time in the city of New York when the sight of a Fifth Avenue bus, stinking and spouting clouds of gas fumes, suddenly becomes unbearably obnoxious. One more traffic jam, one more breath of that lovely New York air, which you have to mine with a pick before you can breathe it, suddenly seems like too much for one sinus and one set of city-frazzled nerves to bear.

This is when you run away; this is when you leave like to run the world without any help from you; this is when you quit second-guessing the government, and worrying about inflation, and fretting about the H-bomb, and wondering about Three-Finger Brown. This is when you pull a Bill O'Dwyer and take off for the far places, if for less sinister reasons. The quail season is on, but after one fine day down south I shall leave them all for Mr. Baruch.

There are other quail, elsewhere, and the last time I looked there was a very likely covey preening itself in front of Doney's on the Via Veneto in Bella Roma.

I hope the cocktail season and the Christmas party season will be very gay in the city this year. And that the hangers will flourish amidst the holly and the Yule logs.

If Santa Claus comes to call on me he will have to have a certificate of solvency from his bank and a good conduct report from his local police. For I think I will be spending Christmas with Haile Selassie in Ethiopia, and they are very stern about transients in Ethiopia. That is, if I get out of Egypt with my life. I know a lot of nefarious people in Cairo. People who ride camels early in the morning without bothering to go to bed first. After a few days of this one is either dead or en route.

A Longish Vacation
I'm heading eventually for Kenya, in British Africa, where the Mau Maus are eating the citizens more or less raw. And I am hog fat and quite a likely morsel at the moment. Things must be pretty tough down there if a slim little banker I know goes to work every day all rodded up like Hop-along Cassidy.

I'm going to crave some indulgence from my masters after the first of the year, and take a longish vacation. I've been doing this rope trick steadily for seven years with five weeks of vacation, and am in a mood to play hooky for a little while. If there are stories around I am to write them. If there ain't, I ain't. Right now I feel real lazy.

It is very possibly snowing in your backyard now and I wish it well. This year I will be refraining from playing with my little red sled and leave the snow men to the other kids.

Goodbye, bosses! Farewell, dogs! So long, Mama! Write me when you get steady work.

HEN IS 12 YEARS OLD—Like Mr. Chips, Esmerelda has said farewell to many a boy graduating from science class at Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills, Mich. Celebrating her 12th birthday, which corresponds to human life span of 100 years, she accepts the congratulations of one of her co-workers in science, Ethan Golden of Birmingham, who lights candles in preparation for her anniversary party. A single-comb white leghorn, Esmerelda had for the month preceding her birthday, a 50 percent laying record—considered good for a spiv 12-year-old. During her long service to education, she has been part of Prof. Holland Speery's program of encouraging Cranbrook boys to learn scientific methods through conducting original experiments instead of adhering to textbook routines. Orphan Girl Makes Good In Show Biz, Gives Some Advice

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Our success story for today is narrated by her nibs, Miss Georgia Gibbs.

Georgia is the pride and joy of Worcester, Mass., an orphan girl who made good. She has some hard words for gals who think they can make a success in show biz overnight. It's a matter of tough work, she says, but it can be done.

And if you want to follow her formula, here's all you do:

1. Start singing with a dance band. This pointer has worked well for Betty Hutton, Betty Grable, Peggy Lee, Doris Day, Jo Stafford, Rosemary Clooney, June Haver, etc. All of them got their first start toward fame by chirping all night in front of the saxophones.

Started At 13
"I started when I was 13 years old," said Miss Gibbs. "I had to go to work, so I lied about my age and toured with small bands. I was singing 50 or 60 songs a night. If your voice can stand that, it can stand anything."

"It's the best possible training for a singer. You find your range, you find out what songs you can sing and what songs you can't."

2. Work with comedians.

After Miss Gibbs started clicking on radio in New York, she landed a singing spot on the Jimmy Durante-Garry Moore show. After several seasons with them, she appeared with other comedians. She was with Danny Kaye for two years and has performed with Bob Hope, Milton Berle and many others.

"I learned a lot from them," she remarked. "I learned timing, which all of them possess to an amazing degree. I learned versatility, so I could handle myself in any situation before an audience."

WASHINGTON — The stress of heavy combat fighting produces in many soldiers the same physical conditions found in persons suffering from diabetes, severe burns or infections, says a team of Army scientists.

Tests conducted under fire in Korea by a 13-member group directed by Johns Hopkins University under Army contract were reported yesterday.

After heavy combat, troops were said to be severely dehydrated, the sugar content in their blood approached that found in diabetes, and there was a marked deficiency of certain blood cells such as found in patients with severe burns or infections.

Federation Raps Labor Monopoly

SEATTLE (AP) — Elimination of wage and price controls, a curb on the federal sale of electric power and return of tidelands control to coastal states were demanded in closing sessions of the American Farm Bureau Federation convention here Wednesday.

Action on these matters came as the federation's delegates stamped their approval on a 72-page report by the resolutions committee.

The delegates also endorsed flexible farm price support and criticized monopolistic power by "industry, labor, agriculture or the government itself."

Labor came in for a separate going over in a report on labor-management relations which noted what it called the trend toward labor monopoly.

The attack on price and wage controls came in a section of the committee's report devoted to national economic policies. The controls, it said, "have no place in this co-ordinated attack on the inflation problem. Price and wage controls impede the control of inflation by diverting attention from the fundamental requirements of a sound program."

"By wasting manpower, creating confusion and disrupting business procedures and relationships, ceilings make the job of getting necessary production vastly more difficult."

Polar Ice Will Be No Barrier To New U.S. Atomic U-Boats

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The leagues of thick polar sea ice which stand between the northern rims of the Western Hemisphere and Eurasia may be no barrier to the atomic submarines the U. S. is now building.

That was made evident today by replies from the Navy to questions about the nuclear engine submarines it is developing—submersibles in which the crew as well as the boat can remain deep down for days, weeks or possibly months.

Silide In Silently
The northern approach to the mainlands of Russia and Canada, for example, always had been closed by the great areas of frozen seas or unyielding pack ice its way—until the advent of long range planes.

poorly equipped, and an antiquated air force. Within 45 days, however, Spain could put 50 divisions onto a battlefield, providing she was given the weapons. But Spain is not welcomed by some other NATO nations.

Strength On Paper
West Germany is ready to line up 12 crack divisions, which would plug a wide gap in the center of the perimeter. Again some NATO nations, notably France, fear a re-armed Germany.

Without the strength those four countries could provide, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway is fighting against heavy odds to strengthen Western Europe's defense line. Since he inherited the job of supreme Allied commander in Europe seven months ago Ridgway has repeatedly warned the Western Powers they have failed to build up enough strength to defend themselves.

The 14 NATO nations have 25 first-line divisions ready to fight. Ridgway also is supposed to have at his disposal 25 reserve divisions ready for action within 30 days.

"We've got them," an American officer at SHAPE said, "but they are only on paper."

Rated by SHAPE standards, the strength of NATO's reserve divisions averages between 40 and 65 per cent of par, the officer said.

Meanwhile, SHAPE is banking on air power. Seven NATO nations already have built or are building 95 airfields along the defense perimeter. There are 30 to 35 airbases in West Germany. Still another 30 to 40 are yet to be built on the continent.

More than $100,000 is found annually in letters that reach the U. S. Dead Letter Office.

on Monday as scheduled. Fifteen counties had completed their recounts.

Williams, who entered the recount with a lead of 8,618 votes, saw his outstate gain slip to 528 votes in 609 precincts.

Alger gained 109 votes in 167 Wayne county precincts, but his gains in the metropolitan area began to slip.

The Democrats were doing nothing to discourage growing discontent among county officials and Republican party workers. There were reports that Democratic challengers in many places were happily conceding points they would have fought tooth and nail over last Monday.

Several Completed
Washtenaw County recount supervisors pondered the acceptance of votes from two Ypsilanti precincts where the inspectors failed to sign the poll books. A total of 476 votes for Williams and 290 for Alger hung in the balance.

Completed recounts had been turned in by Allegan, Baraga, Benzie, Calhoun, Crawford, Emmet, Ionia, Lake Leelanau, Mason, Midland, Otsego and Wexford counties.

Senators Check Up On MacArthur

remarks about MacArthur and Eisenhower, but he said he disapproves of the way the whole matter has been handled.

"Someone ought to do some peacemaking and bring these men together," Stennis said. "There should be no controversy about whether and when to consider any plan to bring this war to an early and honorable conclusion. But equally it should have been discussed secretly and at high military levels before there was a public announcement that it might even exist."

Bombing Too Risky

Eisenhower, now en route back from Korea, has disclosed he intends to meet MacArthur in New York soon to discuss what lies behind the latter's declaration of Dec. 5 that "I am confident there is a clear and definite solution to the Korean conflict" without unduly heavy Allied casualties.

The remark has been interpreted widely as meaning MacArthur believes he has some new plan for ending the war which differs from the one he advocated when Truman fired him in April, 1951.

MacArthur had favored bombing Communist bases in Manchuria, a blockade of the Red China coast and other steps which Truman and the Pentagon insisted would involve too great a risk of touching off a new world war.

By DON WHITEHEAD

HONOLULU (AP) — President-elect Eisenhower, relaxing in bright Hawaiian sunshine from his Korean tour and policy-shaping talks, was steering clear today of any fight between President Truman and Gen. MacArthur over a peace plan for Korea.

Eisenhower planned to play at least 18 holes of golf today on the windswept course alongside the sea at Kaneohe, the Marine Corps air station across Oahu Island from Honolulu. He also planned talks with John Foster Dulles, secretary of state-designate, and Gov. Douglas McKay of Oregon, Eisenhower's selection as secretary of the interior.

Avoids Quarrel

Two close associates predicted Eisenhower would shun public controversy with the President. Truman yesterday called the Eisenhower mission to Korea a "piece of political demagoguery" and said it was MacArthur's duty as a soldier to report to the President if he has any plan for peace in Korea.

"Ike is not going to get into any quarrel with Truman," one of Eisenhower's close friends said. "He's going to see Gen. MacArthur, as he said he would, to get MacArthur's views on the best way to bring peace to the Far East. He is not going to become involved in any fight over it."

No 3-Way Conference

"Ike will stand on the sidelines in the Truman-MacArthur affair," another associate said. "Truman has said some harsh things about Ike—but it's my guess that he (Eisenhower) won't make a reply."

The President virtually closed the door yesterday on proposals for a meeting with Eisenhower and MacArthur. He said he believes such a meeting would serve no useful purpose.

Heroin Seized On Detroit Tip

DETROIT (AP)—Police of the narcotics squad Thursday trapped and arrested two young men in possession of heroin valued at $24,000 at retail.

An informer's tip led to the arrests. Police said the arrests may have blocked an effort by New York dope peddlers to expand to the Detroit area.

Seized at a hotel, the arrested pair identified themselves as Salvatore Ferello, 24, of New York, and William Hedrick, 25, of Detroit.

Two patrolmen posing as buyers arranged a meeting with the two and made the arrests when they were shown a package of heroin for which they said they agreed to pay $4,500.

State Prison Guards May Get Emergency Pay Raise Shortly

LANSING (AP) — Emergency steps may be taken to provide a pay raise for Michigan's prison guards, State Civil Service Director Arthur C. Rasch said.

"This is an emergency matter may do something about the pay raise for prison guards before we consider the overall state pay situation at our next regular meeting on Jan. 22."

Representatives of AFL union guards at the State Prison of Southern Michigan headed the delegation that met with Rasch here yesterday to urge the pay boost.

They said upping salaries was the only way to make the guard positions more attractive and to solve the guard shortage.

The union asked for pay hikes ranging from $32 to $52 a month. Present pay starts at $261 a month and increases to $298 after four years' service.

The delegation also asked for time and a half for overtime and a three and one-half per cent cost of living increase for all other penal employees.

Rasch said he would not consider the overtime request or the proposed cost of living increase at this time but would take it up at the January meeting.

Upper Peninsula on May 16, 1951. McCormick claimed that timber had been taken from state land with the aid of another conservation employee in the Upper Peninsula, but that a justice of the peace had refused a warrant unless he was ordered by the attorney general's office to issue one.

Commenting on McCormick's story, Chairman Glasen said: "If there's anything illegal there I think we should get it out in the open." I personally don't think conservation officers should compete in such things as timber cutting and trapping with outsiders because they would have an unfair advantage through their inside knowledge of the department."

Santa and the PIRATES

AP Newsfeatures

Lucrece Hudgins Beale

SYNOPSIS: Santa and all his little elves want to help Jonathan find the pirate's treasure. But Tweedlekeys reminds them they have to make rubber balls. Jonathan suggests they make the balls on the ship. Overjoyed they pile their equipment on deck and sail to the island of the buried treasure.

CHAPTER IX

HUNTING THE TREASURE

The Santa Land folk dropped the Merry Christmas anchor and went ashore on the island.

"Where's the treasure?" clamored Horace glancing over the peaceful beach. "I don't see any treasure!"

Tweedlekeys snorted "You have to hunt for it, silly. That's why it's called a treasure hunt."

Santa and Prince Jonathan bent over the map and studied the directions. The first direction said, "Giant Fir."

"Santa called his workers together. 'Scatter and hunt for a giant Fir,' he said. 'The first to find it, whistle.'"

The brownies rolled into the woods. Santa and the Prince waited and waited but they never heard a whistle. Santa finally said "We had better hunt, too, for time is short. The Merry Christmas will be turned back into a toy in another day and night."

They set out from the beach. In no time at all they came to a huge fir tree stretching into the sky. It was clearly the Giant Fir they were hunting.

Santa whistled and all the brownies raced to him.

"Here's the fir plain enough," Santa reproved for them.

"Oh," cried the surprised brownies. "We thought you meant a fur animal—not a fir tree!"

Santa and the Prince laughed. Then Santa said, "The next direction says 'Tree Top'."

Immediately the Prince started climbing the tree. But he got only a little way up when he came tumbling down. He tried again and slid down a second time. The branches of the tree were so high that he could not climb to them.

Santa said, "Make a ladder, fellows." Horace climbed on Tricket's back. Donnie climbed on Horace. Ronnie climbed on Donnie. Bricker climbed on Ronnie. And so on until there was a ladder of brownies beside the tree.

Then the Prince climbed from shoulder to shoulder until he came to the lowest branch of the tree. After that it was easy to climb the branches to the tip top of the fir.

When he got there he could see the tops of all the rees in the woods. He could see the beach, too, and the Merry Christmas riding at anchor. But he could not see any treasure or any sign of treasure anywhere.

He started to climb down. Just by accident his foot dislodged a bird's nest. He reached over to straighten the nest and found that instead of eggs or birds the nest held a small white stone.

Written on the stone were the words: "Fifty step East. Eighty Horace climbed on Tricket's back. Donnie climbed on Horace... And so on until there was a ladder of brownies.

steps North East. Twenty steps North."

The Prince dropped through the branches, slid down the laddered of brownies, and read the words on the stone to Santa.

Immediately Santa, with the Prince and brownies following and counting, paced off fifty foot-steps East of the tree. Then eighty step north east. But they couldn't pace twenty steps north because

Freedom Award Is Sought For Medal

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The "God and Freedom" medal project of the Men's Club of the First Congregational Church has been submitted to the Freedom Foundation in Valley Forge, Pa., for consideration for one of the foundation's awards. The Rev. Dr. Frederick Barnhill, pastor of the church announced recently.

The obverse side has on it the word "God" and beneath that, a cross. On the reverse is the American flag, below which is the word "Freedom." The silver medal is about the size of a 50-cent piece. Only 50 were made initially, then another 25. Gov. Howard Pyle of Arizona sent one to each of the other 17 governors, to President Truman, President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The medals are sold at cost, $2 each, and used as pocket pieces. About 500 of the silver medals have been sold and several thousand made of a copper alloy have been distributed throughout the country.

Churchill Soft Talk Stirs Up Opposition Wrath In Parliament

LONDON (AP)—A soft answer from Prime Minister Churchill turned the opposition to wrath—or a parliamentary facsimile thereof—during a debate.

Labourite Member of Parliament Harold Davies protested that he was unable to hear Churchill's answer to a question. The speaker suggested the 78-year-old Prime Minister repeat his reply. Churchill spoke even more softly.

Herbert Morrison, deputy Labourite leader jumped up to ask if it were in order for the Prime Minister deliberately to use a voice that could not be heard. Amid smiles from the House, the speaker said he knew of no precedent.

When Davies asked another question, Churchill let loose with a voice that resembled a lion's roar. Labourite John Rankin then complained that Churchill was defying the chair.

The matter rested when the speaker said he could not say whether it was covered by the rules of order.

Immigrant Finds Home Town Little Changed

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Although Mrs. Appollonia Viggiano has been away from her home town in Italy for 60 years, she found on a recent visit that the tiny village of Guardalupercara had changed but little in all that time.

A few modern houses some running water and a little electricity were the only noticeable differences in the small hilltop town in Southern Italy, she said. The

Fastest Military Air Transport Passes 9-Week Grueling Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy paid today its R7V-1 Super-Constellation, which it calls "America's fastest military air transport," has passed nine weeks of grueling strength tests.

To prove the structural strength of the 113-foot-long plane, engineers at the Lockheed Aircraft Corp. factory in Burbank, Calif., loaded the fuselage with lead ingots and added external pressures until the bending forces equalled 175,000 pounds.

Creator Of Dolls Has So Much Fun She Can't Retire

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

This is a Christmas story for grown-ups who remember the special thrill of a Christmas doll.

For 29 years the person responsible for some of the most resplendent dolls in Santa's annual sack has been a small, bright-eyed woman named Mme. Beatrice Alexander. She never has outgrown her own love for dolls, and that may be the reason she is considered tops in her field.

Quintuplets Famous

Mme. Alexander can't remember a time when dolls were not an important part of her life. Her parents ran the first doll hospital in New York, and little Beatrice used to like to make dresses for the convalescent dolls. She continued this habit after she grew up, and progressed naturally into the business of manufacturing dolls.

You may remember some of her more famous doll-people. One of the all-time best-sellers in doll history as her series of "Dionne" quintuplet dolls, which followed the progress of the five little sisters each year until they were 5.

Currently her little women and little men are the prizes of many young doll collectors, as is her Alice in Wonderland, who looks as if she had stepped straight out of a Tennyson drawing.

In less classical vein, Mme. Alexander makes plenty of strictly modern dolls, such as Maggie, the teen-age doll, who wears long nylon stockings, a real girdle and bra and the latest styles of the teen set, including skirt, blouse and cinch belt.

Real Girdles

Among the lingerie and accessories that come in the doll wardrobes are real suede slippers, saddle shoes, hats packed in their own boxes, nylon slips and panties and even a taffeta shoe bag, to hold three pairs of slippers and one pair of boots.

All the doll clothes are made with infinite attention to detail—tiny buttons and real buttonholes, costume jewelry scaled to size, shoes made like those worn by real little girls.

Wigs are of a special woven plastic fiber that shines like real hair just after a shampoo, can be washed, combed and curled without damage.

It's a safe bet that her next production will be a royal doll in honor of the coronation. Says she:

"I suppose I should retire, but I can't—I have so much fun all the time, with my family of dolls."

Powers

POWERS—Mrs. Roy Bagley was elected president of the Woman's Guild at the regular meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Julius Hansen.

Mrs. Henry Flom was elected vice president, Mrs. Donald McNeely, secretary, and Mrs. Amy Williams, treasurer.

Personals

Jeanine Thibault Places First In Design Contest

First honors for designing the most attractive formal, both pretty and modest, were accorded to Jeanine Thibault of 515 Third avenue south at an assembly at St. Joseph High School this afternoon.

The St. Joseph junior's entry was one of 42 submitted in a pattern contest conducted during November under sponsorship of the Fighting 69th organization and the Sodality of Our Lady at St. Joseph School.

Shirley King of Cornell, Rte. 1, also a junior at St. Joseph's won second honors, for originality of design; and Barbara Bink, 424 South 11th street, and Evelyn Faussner, 220 South Fourth street, were tied for third honors with the most wearable dress patterns.

Honorable Mention

Honorable mention was given this afternoon to Nancy Gauthier, 2310 Ludington street; Carol LaMarche, Escanaba, Rte. 1; Ann Giegel, 2112 South 5th avenue; Mary Ann Chouinard, Gladstone, Rte. 1; Patricia Valko, Gladstone, Rte. 1; and Mary Jacke, Old State Road.

Judges in the contest, which gives students an opportunity to show their talent in designing formal and pictures of dresses which are pretty and modest, were H. C. Gerletti, Escanaba store manager, Mrs. John Root and Mrs. Stack Smith.

The awards this afternoon were presented by Patricia Rooney, a student who is a member of the Fighting 69th, which fights to uphold the 6th and 9th Commandments, the Sodality, and the committee for the "Supply the Demand for the Supply" movement.

"The SDS modesty crusade is based on the realistic fact that designers and manufacturers will produce only the kind of clothing for which there is a great or steady demand," Sister Mary Roger, who was in charge of the contest points out. The key idea, she says, is to supply the demand for the supply of modest fashions.

Father Colman, Director

The crusade, which is directed here by Fr. Colman Higdon, O. F. M., of St. Joseph parish, has a two-fold aim. It seeks to develop in each girl a desire to live and fight for Christian principles of modesty and decency, and to stimulate a great demand for modest, attractive clothing so that designers and manufacturers will find it necessary to make such SDS clothing available for all, the crusaders note.

Some stores here already have been approached and others now will be contacted in the movement for modest, attractive clothing.

SDS membership now totals over 700,000 in this country, Sister Mary Roger states.

In Cincinnati, where it began,

By GAILE DUGAS

NEW YORK — (NEA) — This year's gay Christmas parties will be adorned with girls in shining white. Holiday collections show white to be the predominant color, a gleaming white that is iced with the sparkle of rhinestones and the glitter of crystals.

Evening dresses for the holiday whirl have the softer look, achieved in fabrics like pure silk chiffon. There are skirts that float as you dance and fall into graceful folds when you stand still. Stoles are most often attached and can be draped many ways for an equal number of enchanting effects.

Bodices, too, show the new softness in draped folds or shirred panels. Jeweled embroidery is used to best advantage here in combinations of crystal, bugle beads, pearls, rhinestones or coral.

For juniors and the more sophisticated teens, subdued colors like "desert white" look pretty. There are also the rich reds and glowing greens and blues.

Boffant skirts get help from crinoline underpinnings, and necklines vary from the very high to modest scoops. These young dresses are at their prettiest in antique silk taffeta, plain silk taffeta and taffetized silk shantung.

The great ball gowns for really elaborate affairs are pencil-slim or dramatically bouffant and often have gigantic floor-length stoles. These gowns get the luxury silk satins, peau de soie or silk faille.

Columnar evening gown (left) by Patric is pure silk taffeta in white and is jeweled in crystal, coral and pearls. Flaring floor-length panels fall from a swathed hipline.

Formal beauty (right) by David Gottlieb is peacock green pure silk taffeta. One-strap bodice has two large roses in the same fabric, is boned and pleated.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

Cleveland, St. Louis, New Orleans and Chicago, enthusiasm for SDS has spread rapidly among high school students, she reports. School-wide assemblies, speaking teams, newspaper articles, contests, style shows, store canvassing and an SDS tag day have been utilized in these cities to help supply the demand for the supply.

AS WE LIVE

Lack of Energy Causes Old People's Carelessness

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
You can't expect an elderly person to do things like a young person. That is why this young woman is so intolerant toward her mother-in-law:

(Q) "We live with my husband's mother. She has a lovely home and furnishings. But everything is a mess. She is so careless about everything she does and never keeps herself or her home in good order. My husband tells me she was never like this before. Do you think she is letting things slip so I will do them? She knows I am a very particular housekeeper."

(A) To a limited extent, your mother-in-law may be allowing things to be partially done in the hopes that you will take over the responsibility of doing them for her. But, I am sure, most of her carelessness comes from old age.

As people become old, they have less energy than they had when they were younger. They also move more slowly and with greater effort. Hence, they begin to cut corners whenever possible. A task that was easy for them in the prime of their lives becomes a major burden as they grow older.

Instead of being critical or intolerant of your mother-in-law's carelessness, why not take over some of the burden of running her home? Offer to do the jobs that require the most effort and energy, such as sweeping, and let her do the easier tasks. Then she won't feel that she is being pushed out of the management of her home but she will welcome your help.

The carelessness that you have noticed in her housekeeping spreads to her appearance. Added to the fact that old people are less interested in clothes and good grooming than they were when they were younger is general lack of energy.

Once again, you can help your mother-in-law here. Offer to help her put her dress on, if it is hard to get on straight, offer to fasten it or put a pin at the neck, and

Students Busy With Plans For Holiday Formal

Among the outstanding events of the Christmas season will be the annual Holiday Formal, youth dance for students of Escanaba Senior High School and St. Joseph High School, which will be held Friday, Dec. 26, at the Knights of Columbus Hall.

Dancing with music by Chet Marrier and his band will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m.

Gerald Nichol is general chairman of the party. Chairmen of assisting committees are: Barbara Jensen, decorations; Mary Manning, refreshments; Con Michaels, tickets and programs; Roy Starlin and Nancy Farrell, sponsors and chaperones; Nancy Gauthier and Ann Aronson, publicity; Annette Poquette, secretary; Don Paterick, treasurer; Stan Venne, clean-up. Other members of the board are Harlan Yelland, Kathleen Rooney and Bill LeMire.

Regulations covering the party are: no one is to be admitted under the influence of liquor; no check-outs; formal or semi-formal dress; age limit, from sophomores to 20 years old.

Church Events

Bethany Class Saturday
Bethany's 9th grade confirmation class meets Saturday at 8:30 a. m. There will be no youth choir rehearsals this Saturday.

suggest that you will fix her hair to make it more stylish and becoming.

You can do a lot to improve her appearance without offending her if you go about it tactfully. Your main problem, as time goes on, will be that she will lean more and more heavily on you when her strength fails and she will let you take over things she now does.

Dr. Hurlock will help you with family problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Social-Club

Lady Maccabees
Delta Hive 329 of the LOMT will hold a regular meeting Dec. 15, at 8 p. m., at the home of Mrs. Carl Richter, 108 South 18th street. Gifts will be exchanged and lunch served.

2-H Christmas Party
The 2-H Home Extension Club held its Christmas party last evening at the home of Mrs. Gunnar Beck, 918 S. 15th St. A brief business session was followed by cards, a party lunch served by the hostess, and an exchange of gifts. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Algot Gustafson, 1409 7th Ave. S., Jan. 15. Leaders for the lesson, "The Modern Care of Clothing", are Mrs. Herbert Bergman and Mrs. Roy Johnson.

Here's a good menu for school children's lunch: Vegetable-an-beef soup with crackers or rolls and butter; applesauce with gingerbread; milk.

Former Detroit Red Wing Star Visiting Coyne's In Escanaba

It will be "old home week" at the Jack Coyne residence, 941 Washington Avenue, when Doug Young and his wife arrive there tonight from Detroit for a short visit with the Coyne's.

Doug, a former Detroit Red Wing hockey star and highly respected National Hockey League official, is Jack Coyne's brother-in-law. He is well known in Escanaba, having visited and hunted deer in this area on many occasions.

The Youngs will stop overnight here en route to Marquette where Doug will conduct a Northern Michigan Hockey League officials' clinic tomorrow afternoon and officiate the first annual NM all-star game tomorrow night. They will be here Sunday also.

The all-star clash will pit the champion Portage Lake sextet against all-stars from Escanaba, Marquette and Calumet. Escanaba will be represented by Ben Artwich, Ed Broughton, Jerry Tagliabracchi, Mark and Ted Olson, Joe Ricci, and it is likely that George Schultz, burly newcomer from Winnipeg, Manitoba, and Neil Sinclair and Buddy Provo of the 1951-52 Escanaba squad may see some action.

Escanaba officials who will participate in the clinic and may work part of the contest are Jim Rattray, of Gladstone, and Mel Bertrand and Bob Grabowski, of Escanaba.

But to get back to the Youngs' Escanaba visit . . .

"Yeah, that Doug Young is some fellow," brother-in-law Jack Coyne said yesterday. "We've had a lot of fun deer hunting with him up around the Northland area. He's quite a card."

Asked if Doug had even been successful in bagging a buck up here, Jack replied:

"Yes, he got one—back in 1935—but it took five or six shots to get it. What a bombardment!"

"He sure was happy about shooting that buck," Jack continued. "He was excited about it for several days after."

Jack made no comment about the reporter's suggestion that Doug's deer hunting success in 1935 was coincidental with one of his best hockey playing years and that his "shooting eye" was really on that season. The conclusion was that the answer rested with Doug.

"All I can say is that he was plenty happy and excited," Jack concluded. "He always was a lot of fun in camp, but when he got that buck—Wow!"

Jack's sons, Jack Jr., Tom and Pat, second the motion that this Young fellow is quite a guy. That's why they all look forward so much to his visits.

To get the family picture straight, Jack and Doug married the Nelson sister, Dorothy and Margaret, respectively, while all the parties concerned were residing in Marquette.

Jack is justifiably proud of his two nephews also. Doug Jr., a first lieutenant in the United States Air Force, flew a B45 twin jet

Eskymos At Iron Mountain Tonight; Trojans Invade Manistique Gym Tomorrow

The Escanaba Eskymos will be seeking their third straight cage victory and their second on the road, tonight when they invade the Iron Mountain High School gymnasium.

The Eskys have beaten Marinette and Marquette in their last two starts after losing to the St. Joe Trojans in the season's opener.

Iron Mountain had a dismal night in its opener against Ishpeming last week and lost 47-23 but came back to wallop a veteran Niagara, Wis., team 76-54 Tuesday night.

Tomorrow night the St. Joe Trojans hit the road for the second straight week, travelling to Manistique to face a highly-regarded Great Lakes Conference quint, St. Joe is working on a three-game win streak with victories carded over Bark River, Escanaba and Gladstone.

Bartley Lost

Coach Burt Gustafson of Escanaba has lost the services of guard George Bartley who underwent a knee operation at Marquette this week. Bartley suffered an injury during football season. He may be back in action at the tail end of the season, however.

Either Pat McDonough or Jim Bolm will be operating in Bartley's guard spot tonight. Other starters will be Dick Peterson and John Peterson at forwards, Fred Boddy at center and Bill LeMire at the other guard post.

Coach Joe Poisson's Iron Mountain

starting lineup will likely feature Jack Rahoi, Bob Pozza, Billy Laydon, Joe Pesavento and Dave Lundell. Rahoi, Mountaineer pivotman, scored 23 points against Niagara and Pozza, a guard, hit 22.

Trojan Starters

The main game at Iron Mountain will begin at 8:15 with a 6:45 preliminary scheduled between the two junior varsity teams.

Paul Meli of Negaunee and George Rudness of Ishpeming will officiate.

At Manistique tomorrow night the St. Joe quint will open with John Martinac and Bob Sendenburgh at forwards, Dick Cass at center, Jim Zimmerman and Jim Gravelle at guards.

Likely starters for Coach Rudy Brandstrom's Emeralds are Bob McNamara at center, Warren Wilson and Carl Scharstrom at forwards, Paul Hinkson and Gary Richards at guards.

Bees teams will meet in a preliminary clash.

Red Wings Slap Bruins 10 To 1

(By The Associated Press) Goalie Sugar Jim Henry of the Boston Bruins feels like a guy who's been hit by a two-ton truck today.

The Detroit Red Wings trounced the Bruins, 10-1, Thursday night to end Boston's eight game unbeaten streak and send Henry's once sparkling goals—against average sky-rocketing.

Henry entered the game sporting an 1.84 goals against mark, tops in the National Hockey League. He now ranks third, behind Detroit's Terry Sawchuk and Montreal's Gerry McNeill.

The easy victory gave the Wings, who have lost only one game in their last 14 starts, undisputed possession of first place. The Wings were tied with Chicago but the slumping Blackhawks dropped a 3-2 decision to the Montreal Canadians.

Gerry Toppazzini stole a puck while his team was short-handed in the final period and scored unassisted to rob Sawchuk of a shut-out.

Undefeated Saxton Is Heavy Favorite

NEW YORK (P)—Undefeated Johnny Saxton will be swinging for a quick knockout tonight when he faces Cuba's Raul Perez at Madison Square Garden in a welterweight ten rounder.

The 22-year-old Brooklyn Negro is a 4 to 1 favorite to win the nationally telecast scrap.

medium bomber for 11 months in the Korean War and is now stationed in Columbus, Ohio, where he is in line for his captaincy, and Bob Young also is in the NSAF. Doug is 24 years old and Bob is two years his junior.

After showing the reporter the family album, which included many pictures of the famed Doug, Mrs. Coyne concluded the interview with this appropriate remark:

"Of course we're all very proud of him. He has been elected to ice hockey's hall of fame in the Detroit Olympia Stadium."

Doug spent seven years with the Detroit Red Wings and two with the Montreal Canadiens. He was Detroit captain for three years and led the team to two Stanley Cup championships.

Emeralds To Invade Braves' Gym Tonight

MANISTIQUE—Coach Rudy Brandstrom's Emeralds, victors by a close margin over Sault Ste. Marie last week in their opening game, will face crucial basketball tests tonight and tomorrow against Gladstone and St. Joe.

The Emeralds take to the road tonight to meet Gladstone, which lost to St. Joe last week in a tight battle.

Tomorrow night in the new gym

Brandstrom's men clash with St. Joe, again rated one of the top cage outfits in the central part of the Peninsula.

The varsity game tomorrow is scheduled for 8:30, with a preliminary between reserves of the two schools at 7.

This weekend will wind up local high school basketball until after the holidays. The first game will be a home stand against Newberry on Jan. 9.

Defending Keg Champs Lead All-Star Field

CHICAGO (P)—The defending champions were in the top spot today as finalists began their second day of match game competition in the National All-Star individual tournament.

Titleholders Julie McMahon and Mrs. Marion Ladewig are the leaders.

The 32 finalists, survivors from a field of 160 men and 48 women, faced the same schedule today as Thursday, 16 games for the men and eight for the women. It will be the same on Saturday and on Sunday, when the nine-day kegling marathon ends.

Slam Leads

McMahon, of Chicago and Fairlawn, N. J., and Mrs. Ladewig, of Grand Rapids, Mich., both had slim leads going into today's firing.

McMahon waited until the Thursday night's last squad to take the lead away from the qualifying leader, Ed Lubanski of Detroit.

McMahon shot 886 to win four games from Stan Gifford of Portland, Ore., and the lead in the tournament. He had 77.08 Petersen points to 76.43 points for Lubanski. The Detroit kegler had the best won-loss record as he copped 12 of his 16 games while McMahon won 11 of 16.

210 Average

Ed Brosius Jr. of Chicago was in third place with 76.02 points. He had the highest number of pins for the 16 games, 3352 for an average of almost 210.

Mrs. Ladewig, who has won the women's championship for the three years it has been in existence, lost her second game of the day to Marion Turash of Brooklyn but then won the next six to take first place.

Giving her competition was Doris Knechtges of Detroit who had 38.00 Petersen points to Mrs. Ladewig's 38.48. Of her eight games, Miss Knechtges won seven and tied one. However, her pin fall of 1525 was much lower than Mrs. Ladewig's 1598 for the same number of games.

Harnies Defeat Al's By 60-44

Towering Phil Creten led the Harnischfeger basketball team to a 60-44 victory over Al's Tavern in a feature City League clash last night at the Junior High gym.

Creten paced the Harnies with 15 points from the center spot. Charlie Camps assisted in the scoring department with 11.

Al's scored the first four points in the game but couldn't match the veteran Harnies the rest of the way. Harnischfeger built up a 32-21 lead by halftime and continued to stretch the margin in the last two quarters.

Don Lewis, Al's center, led the losers on the scoreboard with 10 points. Veteran Roy Johnson contributed nine.

In the preliminary game Cliff Gillis of Gladstone Marble Arms rang scoring bell for 15 points to pace his mates to an easy 50-23 victory over Paper Mill.

The twin bill was attended by a fair crowd of independent cage fans. City League games are slated each Thursday night at the Junior High court.

Hamilton Named Outboard Officer

LeRoy Hamilton of Gladstone was elected secretary-treasurer of the Upper Peninsula Outboard Racing Association at its annual meeting in Ishpeming recently.

Other officers named were Harold Westman, Newberry, commodore; Fred Londroff, Houghton, vice-commodore; Robert Eisele, Iron Mountain, Bert Miller, Kingsford, and W. T. Elson and Chet Anderson, Ishpeming, directors. Gordon Elson of Ishpeming was named representative on the board of the American Power Boat Association.

Members heard a discussion on water safety and made plans for next season. Television movies of the Association's Labor Day races at Newberry were shown.

Area members attending were Mrs. Stanley Venne and son Stan Jr., Joe Poffenberger of Escanaba; Edmond Chartier of Manistique; Rod and Gil Kelly, James Rattray, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Marshall and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton of Gladstone.

Chevs Post 85-42 Win Over National Guard

MANISTIQUE—The Chevs erupted in a scoring rash last night as they bludgeoned the National Guards, 85 to 42, in a game at the old gym.

The opening stanza was close with the Chevs ahead, 14 to 11, at the beginning of the second. After that the Chevs pulled into a lead, snaring 30 markers in the second to the Guards 9, 25 in the third while the Guards were racking up 14, and winding up in the fourth with 20 more points to the Guard's 8.

Chev scoring was well scattered, with Rudy Brandstrom, high school cage coach, topping the list with 15. Knotted for second honors with 13 each were Norm Jahn and Don LaBressure.

Jahn, an old Chev stalwart, arrived home yesterday on naval furlough.

Top scorer for the Guards was George Marks who sank seven field goals and two free tosses.

O'Donnell Trophy To MSC On Feb. 12

EAST LANSING (P)—The O'Donnell Trophy, given annually to the team named the national collegiate football champion by the Associated Press, will be awarded to Michigan State Feb. 12.

The O'Donnell trophy is named for the late Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, a former Notre Dame football player who later became president of Notre Dame.

It was created and put in competition by the Notre Dame Monogram Club after the Irish had won three legs on the previous Dr. Henry L. Williams national championship trophy and retired it from competition.

Already holding single legs on the current trophy are Michigan, 1948; Notre Dame, 1949; Oklahoma, 1950, and Tennessee, 1951.

In This Corner

With Ray Crandall

Cage fans are looking for a top-flight basketball game at Gladstone tonight when the Braves entertain Manistique in a Great Lakes Conference clash. Manistique looks like one of the best in the Peninsula this season and Gladstone indicated that it has come of age by chasing the St. Joe Trojans down to the wire before losing by two points the other night. New coach Rudy Brandstrom of Manistique has three of his first five back from last year.

Pete Kutches, former St. Joe athletic star, is due in from Wyoming next week for Christmas vacation. After a successful season with the Wyoming freshman football team, Pete has shifted to basketball and is one of the first five on the frosh squad. He's been operating at a guard position in practice.

Look for some hot action at Manistique Saturday night when the St. Joe Trojans take on the Manistique Emeralds. Last year St. Joe trimmed Manistique 73-61 at the Bonifas gym and the Emeralds will be gunning for revenge. Although the Trojans lost the Upper Peninsula's greatest scorer in Kutches, the team has better balance and more height this season.

Escanaba fans will have an opportunity to see Coach C. C. Watson's rebuilt Ishpeming team in action a week from tonight. The Hematites invade the Escanaba gym to meet Coach Burt Gustafson's Eskymos. Bob Sharland racked up 31 points in Ishpeming's first win this season and has been a steady scorer since. Sharland may get hooked up with Escanaba's Fred Boddy in a scoring duel.

Sites of the Upper Peninsula district and regional basketball tournaments will be named at a tournament committee meeting at Crystal Falls next Monday. After regional champions are determined in the U. P. they will be paired in quarter-final tournaments at downstate sites. The U. P. Sports Writers Association recommendation that at least one of the quarterfinal tournaments be staged above the Strait failed to get approval this year.

Harnies Play Host To Niagara Quint Tonight

The Escanaba Harnischfeger cage quint, top independent basketball team in this area, plays host to the Niagara Badgers tonight at St. Joe's gym in the lone court attraction here this weekend.

The Harnies, who measured Al's Tavern 60-44 in City League play last night, take on the Wisconsin team at 8:30. A preliminary will match Gladstone Marble Arms against Al's Tavern of Escanaba at 7:15.

Harnischfeger boasts one of the most formidable cage lineups in independent circles with Phil Creten, ex-Gladstone High School and St. Norbert College star, in a featured role at the center position. Creten stands six feet, seven inches tall.

Remainder of the team is made up of veteran independent cagers including Manager Ed Gauthier, Charlie Camps, Bob Dufour, Tom Dufour, Bill Ferrari, Jack Stratton, Ken Dufresne, John Zimmerman and Orville Larschied.

Niagara, a basketball stronghold for many years, has an experienced team made up of Niagara, Iron Mountain and Kingsford athletes. The Badgers are managed this year by Lee Kuder.

With both Escanaba and St. Joe high school quints on the road this weekend, the game tonight is expected to draw heavily from regular prep fans and a large crowd is hoped for. The game marks the first appearance of an outside independent team in Escanaba this season.

State's Top Swimmers In Michigan AAU Meet

ANN ARBOR (P)—Many of the state's top swimmers will flex their muscles in preparation for the new tank season here Saturday in the Michigan AAU meet.

University of Michigan Coach Matt Mann will present five Olympic swimmers who competed under his direction in the international meet at Helsinki last summer.

Two, who follow Mann now in his capacity as Wolverine swim coach, are Burwell "Bumpy" Jones and Ron Gora, a Detroit sophomore, swam with the U. S. free-style team in the Olympics. Gora, a Chicagoan who is currently ineligible at Michigan, placed eighth in the 100-yard free-style at Helsinki.

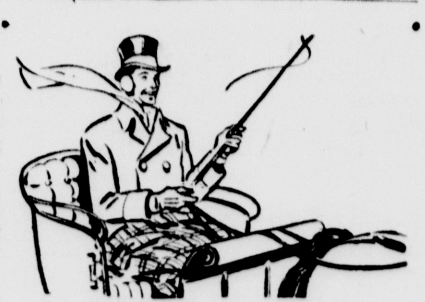

Another, Australian John Davies, Michigan star for the past three years, won the Olympic breast stroke title.

Jack and Bert Wardrup, a pair of Scottish swimmers who'll be Michigan freshmen in February, will compete. Jack finished fifth in the Olympic 440 and Bert wound up sixth in the back stroke.

In addition to that talent, swimmers from most sections of the state will be competing in the meet that will decide championships in four AAU events: The 440-yard free-style, 100-yard breast stroke, the 100-yard back stroke, and the 50-yard free-style.

The meet, also holding handicap relays, diving and girls' competition, will get underway with preliminaries at 2 p. m. Finals are scheduled at 7:30 p. m.

Wolverines Have Good Sports Year But Grid Fans Decrease

By JOHN E. MAYHEW

ANN ARBOR (P)—Athletically speaking, the University of Michigan had a pretty good year. But football attendance, life-line of the huge, 11-sport Wolverine program, was falling.

As it turned out, loss of the final game to Ohio State, deprived Michigan of the Western Conference football championship and the Rose Bowl bid and the Wolverines finished fourth. Eight other teams finished fourth or better.

The golf team of Coach Bert Katzenmeyer won the Big Ten title and Michigan's Hockey sextet skated off with the National collegiate championship for the second straight year.

Third Drop

But all that was played against the ominous background of the falling football attendance, down 19,097 from the previous year's six-game home total. The drop in fans was not too significant. However, it was the third consecutive drop since 1949's tinkling season, and totalled 157,421 lost customers.

Actually, the Wolverines, who won four of six conference games and five of nine overall, played to an average home attendance of some 600,000 customers. But to an athletic regime "spoiled" by a 1951 average home attendance of more than 74,000, a 1950 average home attendance of 82,144 and a whopping 1949 average attendance of almost 94,000, it was bound to look anaemic.

Athletic Director H. O. (Fritz) Crisler was unable to account definitely for the decline. "Best guesses," he said must include the tightening amusement dollar, the fact that the Michigan football team was accorded little chance at the start of the season, and the effects of television.

On the brighter side was the reflection that only the basketball team and the tennis squad finished below fourth place in its competition.

The tennis team won six of 10 meets during the season and finished fifth behind champion Indiana. The Wolverine court squad, playing its last of four years under Ernie McCoy, finished in an eighth place tie with Northwestern in the Big Ten, winning only four of 14 league games and only seven of 22 overall.

New Cage Coach

McCoy left to become athletic director of Penn State, giving way to Bill Perigo, former Western Michigan player and coach, who revamped the Wolverine offense and started off in a whirl of enthusiasm.

Wolverines Open Big Ten Cage Season On Saturday

ANN ARBOR (P)—Michigan carries new-found basketball hopes into a rugged 18-game Western conference schedule, starting with University of Iowa at Iowa City Saturday.

Only the most rabid partisans expect title contention from the Wolverines, revitalized under a new coach, former Western Michigan mentor Bill Perigo.

But most figure the new Michigan combination will improve on last year's 4-10 Big Ten Record and eighth place finish under Ernie McCoy, now athletic director at Penn State.

And despite impressive wins over Marquette and Pitt in early non-league games, all predictions are being tempered by the new and more rugged conference slate that replaces last season's 14-game schedule.

Extreme pressure will be on Perigo and his new outfit from the start. Opening such a rugged schedule with road games against four of the toughest teams in the league is hardly the easy way to launch a new regime.

Rules Committee Meets Next Month

New Grid Rules In Future?

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
NEW YORK (AP) — When the National Football Rules Committee meets next month it should:

1. Rule out the two-platoon system.
2. Allow unlimited substitution.
3. Clarify the pass interference rule so as to (A) inflict fewer penalties on doubtful interference and (B) protect the receiver from roughness because interference isn't called.

4. Do away with the so-called "sucker shift."
5. Eliminate the dangerous "helmet block."

Move Goal Posts

6. Return the goal posts to the goal line.
7. Permit running with recovered fumbles.
8. Do away with fumbles entirely.

9. Require a fifth official to watch for downfield infractions.
10. Eliminate a couple of the officials who keep getting in the way or at least take their whistles away.

It's all very simple. All the rules-makers have to do is figure out the wording of new rules to bring about all these things and a few more.

Actually these 10 points take in the most frequent suggestions offered by sports writers and broadcasters replying to the Associated Press post-season questionnaire. There were many others and a solid bloc who voted "leave the rules alone."

By far the greatest number of proposals concerned substitution and opinion was almost equally divided as to whether the rules should be tightened to end the platoon system or should provide for unlimited substitution as in pro football.

The publicity given this season to shifts which tend to draw the opposition offside and which, according to some coaches, are designed to do just that, brought a demand for a clearer definition of the illegal shift. And a good many experts agreed that pass interference is the hardest penalty to call and resulted in more Rube Goldberg plays.

One school held that the defenders are "clobbering" receivers and getting away with it while another insisted that interference is called too often in questionable circumstances.

Fumbles Plentiful

The rash of "fumblyitis" during the past season brought fresh demands that players be allowed to run with the ball after recovering fumbles and for other changes.

One proposal was to rule out fumbles entirely. "A team would retain possession at the point of the fumble," he wrote. "The roughest play in football comes when a team tries to steal the ball. And, after all, what's the point of the game—fineness in offense and defense, or how rough can we get?"

The replies showed increasing concern over unnecessary roughness and the frequent brawls during games. There was a strong demand, mostly from the Southwest, for abolition of the "helmet block"—when a blocker lowers his head and rams his hard plastic helmet into a would-be tackler's face.

Many Say 'No Change'

Roughing kickers and passers and changing the fair catch rule to provide better protection for punt receivers also were brought in. One writer proposed banning the use of forearms and elbows in blocking, returning to the old shoulder block. Others thought the rule limiting the use of forearms wasn't being enforced strictly enough while several said that mandatory expulsion from the game was too severe a penalty for illegal use of the arms.

But more than half of the questionnaires either said "no change" or left the space blank.

Pacific Coast OK's Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—The Pacific Coast Conference wants to continue its Rose Bowl romance with the Big Ten.

The relationship, the coasters implied, has been wonderful in all its phases—except, of course, on the football field each New Year's Day.

Six times the coast has been defeated, Illinois and Michigan did it twice apiece, and the same happened when Northwestern and Ohio State appeared in the bowl.

The Big Ten won't get around to polling its members until next May and a tug-of-war is reported behind the scenes to line up sides on the issue. Some sources in Chicago have it that if a vote were to be taken today, Iowa, Michigan State, Minnesota, Northwestern, Purdue and Wisconsin would oppose continuation of the series, and Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio State would be for it.

PCC faculty representatives formally voted Thursday to invite the Big Ten to renew their pact for another three years when the present one expires Jan. 1, 1954. An answer was asked by June 5, 1953.

The invitation, it was made clear, is contingent on one vital factor—namely, that bowl games are not ruled out by the NCAA when it meets Jan. 9 to 11 in Washington, D. C.

Mississippi Over Maryland Is Rated No. 1 Grid Upset

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—It took a heck of an upset to jolt the nation's football experts during the past season: there were so many of them. But they really got one Nov. 15 when Mississippi beat Maryland, 21-14.

Going into that afternoon the Maryland team, victorious in seven straight games, was rolling along in high. It was ranked third in the Associated Press poll, and a good many experts placed the Terrapins even higher.

Tied Twice

Mississippi also was unbeaten, but had been tied twice, by Kentucky and Vanderbilt, and hardly had been given a tumble by the pollsters.

That afternoon the Ole Miss line completely bottled up Maryland's celebrated T quarterback, Jack Scarbath. Jimmy Lear assumed the star's role instead, and in the final quarter completed a 42-yard pass to Bud Slay that set up the winning touchdown by Wilson Dillard.

So the final score was posted: Maryland lost its first game since Oct. 4, 1950, and Mississippi received a lucrative invitation to play Georgia Tech in the Sugar Bowl.

Iowa Noted

As another result, 64 out of about 150 sportswriters and broadcasters from every section of America returned questionnaires to the Associated Press listing Mississippi over Maryland as the reatest upset of the 1952 football season.

Two other games drew special attention. Second, with 37 votes, was Iowa's 8-0 victory over Ohio State, of which Sec Taylor, veteran Des Moines, Ia., expert, said: "It was like my 8-year-old granddaughter outboxing Sugar Ray Robinson."

Third, with 34 votes, was Notre Dame's 27-21 triumph over Oklahoma.

which operates under a different accrediting association, although Sooner President Dr. George L. Cross has said the school would remain in the North Central regardless of athletic affiliation.

Dr. Cross yesterday said it was "utterly out of the question" for the Sooners to bolt the Big Seven. Oklahoma Football Coach Bud Wilkinson commented that "we'll just have to wait for the conference (Big Seven) to confer with North Central."

This gave significance to Burns' remark that:

Slow Enforcement

"Something may be going on in the Big Seven in way of talking compliance with our code on a conference level, although we have had no official word on the matter."

Burns admitted that the North Central has been slow gaining momentum in enforcing new and stringent regulations governing athletics which became effective Sept. 1.

One plank "strongly disapproves" athletic scholarships and "free rides" through college.

The association has a convincing enforcement weapon in its accrediting power. An institution dropped from its accredited list virtually becomes an academic "outlaw," with enrollment suffering heavily.

Maglie and Raschi Are Top Pitchers

NEW YORK (AP)—Sal (The Barber) Maglie and Vic Raschi boast the best lifetime pitching marks in the major leagues.

Pitching statistics through the 1952 season disclose that Maglie, the New York Giant right-hander, heads the National League with a lifetime total of 64 victories and 22 defeats for a .744 percentage. Sal, despite an aching back, had an 18-8 record in 1952.

Raschi, a New York Yankee mainstay during the last six years, tops all American League moundsmen in lifetime average with 107 triumphs and 44 losses for a .709 mark. Vic won 16 and dropped six last year, the first season in the last four he failed to win at least 20 games. The husky righty also had a 2-0 record in the World Series.

Two Members Of North Central Association Are Due For Crackdown

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, powerful 19-state accrediting agency, soon plans to crack down on violators of its athletic de-emphasis program.

Norman Burns, secretary of the group's Commission on Colleges and Universities, said today "vigorous action" was planned shortly in "one or two cases" which he declined to identify.

The association's membership of 368 colleges and universities covers Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Surprised At Sooners

Burns said the commission, enforcement body of the association, was "surprised" that the University of Oklahoma was reported this week to be looking for an escape from the North Central's ban on subsidizing athletics.

It was rumored the Sooner school may quit the Big Seven and join the Southwest Conference which operates under a different accrediting association, although Sooner President Dr. George L. Cross has said the school would remain in the North Central regardless of athletic affiliation.

Debaters At Esky Saturday

Gladstone high school debaters travel to Escanaba Saturday to participate in the second round of practice arguments to be held in the Oliver Memorial auditorium at the junior high school.

There will be a general meeting of debaters at 9 with the opening round of arguments at 9:15. Teams coming the longest distance will be given preference in time so that they may leave for home earlier than others.

Seventeen high schools are expected to send squads to the meet. The opening arguments were held at Crystal Falls several weeks ago.

There are twelve on the Gladstone squad: namely Don Brewer, Jerry Gagner, Wilfred VanDresse and Bob Quarnstrom, varsity; and Mary Jo Bolger, Mary Alice Cameron, Janet Corbiel, Margaret Herzog, Jim Keldsen, Frank Lash, Johan Lash and Quinn Rasmussen, reserves.

The series will provide Coach Leonard Newendorp an opportunity to select one of the reserves to serve as an alternate or substitute for the varsity for the final meeting at Marquette in January.

Rebekahs Plan Christmas Party

The Rebekahs will have their Christmas party on Tuesday evening. The group will attend a 6:30 dinner at Marco's in Escanaba after which they will return to the George Johnston home where cards will be played and gifts exchanged.

Social

GIA

Mrs. George Johnston entertained the GIA on Wednesday afternoon at her home, 1108 Montana avenue. Mrs. Joe Weingartner held high honors in five hundred and Mrs. Wm. C. Miller, second. A pot luck supper was served. The members exchanged gifts as this was their annual Christmas party.

End Discrimination At Home To Bring Peace, Church Told

By EDWARD O. ETHELL

DENVER (AP)—Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. believes America must end discrimination and human indignities at home before it can lead the world to lasting peace.

Lodge, one of the architects of President-elect Dwight D. Eisenhower's still-forming foreign policy, Tuesday asked leaders of 30 Protestant churches to work for "a durable peace based on justice" in this way:

Bullets Won't Work
"Work for an America that is strong militarily, economically and politically; support the United Nations; work to make it stronger; advance tolerance and human rights; encourage private American activity abroad and hold out to all of suffering humanity the hope of liberty."

"Our discriminations," Lodge added, "are not only in conflict with Christian ideals, but they are a real danger to the success of our foreign policy."

The United States cannot defeat the idea of communism with dollars or bullets, Lodge said. It must do it by putting into practice the American ideal of equality and justice for all, he said.

Opinion Powerful
Lodge, a Massachusetts Republican, has been designated by Eisenhower as ambassador to the United Nations. He said the U. N.

Soo Hill PTA Christmas Party At December Meeting

SOO HILL — The PTA which met Wednesday evening for a Christmas party was pleasantly entertained by solos well performed by Sharon Collins, an 11-year old Barr School pupil and accordion student at the Music Center.

Manley Anderson gave an interesting talk on things to remember in preparing a child for training on a musical instrument. Encouragement and a little firm urging on the parent's part will help to keep interest up, he said, when the ball park looks son, and group singing of carols. Bunco was followed by a lunch served by candlelight and gifts were exchanged.

A purse of $10 was collected to buy a gift for a child at the Holy Family Orphanage, Marquette.
